Forces Take Over Argentina Frondizi Quits Presidency

FRENCH FIRE POWER 'STUNS' SECRET ARMY

ALGIERS (AP)—The French massed 60,000 troops in Algiers today to bring the city's 300,000 defiant European settlers under control.

Reinforcements rolled in from the countryside to guard against any new outbreak by the Secret Army of Europeans fighting to sabotage the cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian nationalist rebels. Armored cars and half-tracks patrolled streets of the Algerian capital.

The settlers' cause appeared hard hit by the heavy army fire into a crowd of European demonstrators Monday, in which 45 Europeans were killed and 120 wounded in the heart of the city.

"We are so stunned we cannot think of any reaction," said one Secret Army agent.

TROOPS GUARD BUILDINGS

Steel-helmeted Argentine soldiers guard buildings in Buenos Aires today as military forces seized control of country and forced President Arturo Frondizi to resign in latest political upheaval.

DUKE'S PLANES POISED FOR QUICK FLIGHT

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Two planes stood by at a nearby airport today in case the Duke of Edinburgh wanted to leave Argentina quickly.

It was not known immediately whether the Duke's schedule would be changed as a result of the political situation. He was scheduled to stay at two ranches near here until Monday.

Head of Courts May Take Post

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentine President Frondizi was reported today to have resigned in the face of a military takeover of Buenos Aires.

The Argentine news agency Saporiti said the president had stepped down and asked Benjamin Villegas Basavilbaso, president of the Argentine Supreme Court, to take over the country's presidency.

The resignation report came after the country's three armed forces commanders had declared they intended to oust Frondizi today.

The army had earlier seized control of Buenos Aires in the forerunning action of a long-threatened coup.

Troops Occupy Strategic Points

More soldiers from Olavarria and Tandil, about 200 miles south and southwest of the capital, also were reported moving on Buenos Aires.

Stores and places of business opened normally in Buenos Aires this morning. The transportation system operated as usual.

There were no immediate reports of unrest from industrial areas.

Shortly before Frondizi arrived his press secretary denied statements by staff members at his residence that the president had vanished and that he had not slept there Tuesday night.

Today's military moves brought to a head the simmering dispute between Frondizi and armed service chiefs which began over disagreement on how to deal with the substantial victories in March 18 elections of Peron supporters. Peron was ousted in 1955.

The armed forces wanted a national coalition in which they could be represented.

Earlier today Frondizi rejected a formal demand to resign made to him by the heads of the armed services.

The demand was the climax of hours of discussions at Government House, seat of the presidency and of several government departments, including the defence ministry.

A tense atmosphere prevailed as the efforts to get the president to quit went on into the early hours of the morning.

Deputies, Senators Gather

Deputies and senators gathered in the corridors. Frondizi stayed in his office while the secretaries of the armed forces with their commanders-in-chief and top unit commanders, met in the offices of the ministry of defence.

The announcement that the president had rejected the call to resign was made at a press conference by Martinez.

He said the secretaries for war and air and the commander of naval operations asked him to tell the president that the view of their forces were the same as those expressed to him Tuesday by ex-president Pedro Aramburu — that he should resign.

Aramburu was appointed by Frondizi to try to mediate in the crisis.

Martinez added at the early morning press conference: "President Frondizi replied that his decision not to resign was final."

Martinez added he had made proposals "inspired by the need of national unity, defence of the constitutional order and democratic ideals" and that they were approved by Frondizi.

Usually reliable government sources said the proposals consisted firstly of the creation of a new cabinet with all ministers hand-picked by the armed forces; secondly, armed forces supervision of all legislation and thirdly shortening of the presidential term which was due to expire May 1, 1964.

Army Seizes Syria

DAMASCUS (Reuters) — The Syrian armed forces announced today they have seized power, dissolved parliament and accepted the resignations of the president, premier and cabinet.

In a series of communiques broadcast over Damascus radio the armed forces general command issued a warning against demonstrations and disorders.

The command pledged positive steps toward Pan Arab unity, based on a sound foundation with liberated Arab countries, particularly "dear Egypt and sister Iraq."

It said it considered Palestine the "prime Arab cause" and pledged to mobilize all efforts for "the liberation of usurped Arab land" in Israel.

The command charged that "conspiring elements" had penetrated into power and that parliamentary deputies had worked for their own interests.

REFER TO COURTS

"The army command therefore felt itself compelled to depose those in power and conspiring elements and refer them to the courts to have their final say," one communique said.

The command also announced that Syrian borders and airports had been closed until further notice.

It said martial law was proclaimed but the army would return to its barracks as soon as "the objectives of the revolution have been achieved."

Damascus radio broadcast an announcement by the army high command saying it was taking over because the civilian government had betrayed the aims of the September military coup, six months ago today, which broke Syria away from its union with Egypt in the United Arab Republic.

It said the army would hit "with iron fists" against anyone disturbing the peace.

The high command said a provisional government will be formed from "loyal elements" and Syria will continue with a policy of positive neutrality, observing international treaties and the principles of the United Nations.

The high command said the government had protected plotters and saboteurs and deprived laborers of their gains under the September revolution.

BIGGEST DEAL YET

$75 Million Wheat Sale To Red China

OTTAWA (CP)—A new wheat sale to Red China involving just over 39,000,000 bushels worth $75,000,000 was announced today by Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton.

It is the biggest of the six grain deals completed to date with China.

Mr. Hamilton, given a long, desk-thumping welcome back to the Commons after a two-month illness, said the latest contract boosts to 108,000,000 bushels the amount of wheat sold to Red China under a long-term credit agreement that is ultimately to cover 186,700,000 bushels of wheat and 46,700,000 bushels of barley.

Canada has so far sold 26,000,000 bushels of the barley. In addition, China purchased 31,700,000 bushels of wheat and 12,700,000 bushels of barley on a cash basis last spring.

SAME PAYMENT

Payment terms for the latest purchase are identical to five previous contracts—25 per cent cash and the balance on 273 days' credit with interest.

The transaction was completed within the $100,000,000 credit guarantee made by the Canadian government to the Canadian Wheat Board to facilitate sale of grain to China.

Bulk of the wheat will be shipped from west coast ports from June to December, assuring a steady volume of exports from Vancouver for the balance of this year, Mr. Hamilton said.

About 5,600,000 bushels will be shipped from Atlantic and St. Lawrence River ports in April and May.

'Courts Cannot Return BCE'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. government claimed Tuesday it can keep the B.C. Electric Company even if the courts rule that the legislation under which the company was expropriated last August was illegal.

M. M. McFarlane, counsel for the attorney-general in an appeal against a court order placing the BCE under receivership, said the courts are powerless to restore the BCE to the B.C. Power Corporation, its former owner.

Even if B.C. Power wins its suit to have the takeover declared invalid the Social Credit government does not have to hand the BCE back to it unless it chooses to, he said.

Mr. McFarlane said that in the event the courts should rule that the expropriation last August was illegal, it will require a further court action against the government to have the actual property returned.

CAN REFUSE FIAT

But here the government has the power to block such a law suit by refusing to grant a fiat (permission to sue the government), he said.

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris, one of the five court of appeal judges hearing the appeal, pointed out that such permission had already been refused by the government, in connection with B.C. Power's previous efforts to get the BCE takeover before the courts.

Mr. McFarlane raised his point in support of his appeal against last week's order by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes. That order ruled that a receiver should be appointed to stand guard over the BCE's assets until B.C. Power suit challenging the validity of the takeover is settled. Dr. Harry L. Purdy, former BCE president, was appointed receiver.

"The court has no right to make an order for a receiver when the court is powerless to restore that property," said Mr. McFarlane.

SOLICITED OR VOLUNTARY?

MLA Row Over Letters From Delinquent Girls

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

The B.C. legislature broke up in wild uproar at 2.05 this morning over letters attacking an Opposition member which the government said came from delinquent girls in Willingdon School in Burnaby.

The Opposition charged the letters were solicited and part of a deliberate scheme.

An eruption of ill-temper flared in debate on the welfare department as the government pushed through the night to speed toward prorogation of the longest session in years.

The government's sheaf of letters was read by Dan Campbell (SC—Comox).

He said the typewritten letters he held were all from girls in Willingdon and addressed to Don Robinson, Socred MLA for Lillooet.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan charged the letters were solicited and part of "a deliberate scheme" to thwart criticism of the welfare department.

Barrett Speech

The letters all referred to press and radio reports of a speech made earlier in the session by Dave Barrett (NDP-CCF—Dewdney) which said that girls in the school were led to prostitution and drug addiction.

The last quote read out by Mr. Campbell was:

"We wish to say we express our appreciation for your concern on our part."

Mr. Strachan charged: "It is obvious from the wording of some of the letters that either someone had written to the girls asking for their comments on a press report, or someone in the school had asked them to write."

He added:

"The government is so ashamed of its attitude toward social welfare that it promoted a deliberate scheme.

"It should also be ashamed that we're sitting here at 2.05 a.m. discussing the lives of a great many people."

(The social welfare department estimates total $30,389,531.)

Site Chosen For New B.C. Drug Clinic

OTTAWA (CP)—A site has been selected adjacent to the Abbotsford, B.C., airport for a $4,000,000 narcotic drug institution, Justice Minister Fulton announced today.

Mr. Fulton said the institution, which will accommodate 400 men and 150 women convicted of offences against the Narcotic Control Act, is the first major step by the federal penitentiaries system to design special segregated control and treatment facilities for drug addicts.

"A treatment centre will also be established on the property to provide room for the experimentation in pilot treatment projects," he said.

RUSS IN FIRM OFFER

'Keep Nuclear Clubs Private'

GENEVA (Reuters)—Russia today declared it will refrain from giving its allies atomic weapons or information if the United States and Britain and France will do the same.

The spokesman said: "The Soviet Union itself is ready promptly to assume obligations not to disseminate atomic weapons or technical information for their production on condition Britain and the United States do the same."

The Rapacki plan, rejected by the West in the past on grounds it would weaken the security of NATO countries, was given a new feature by its author today

Dutch Battle Guerrillas As Guinea Tension Mounts

THE HAGUE (Reuters) Dutch marines and police have reported an exchange of fire with a well-armed unit of some 30 Indonesians on an island off disputed West New Guinea, officials said here today.

The engagement took place at the western tip of Waigeo Island off the Dutch-ruled island territory, the official West New Guinea information office here said.

A report from the Dutch military chief in West New Guinea said the Indonesians retreated after the exchange, leaving ammunition and food behind.

SET UP BLOCKADES

Dutch reinforcements are en route to the disputed territory because of what the government calls the "continual threats and aggressive acts" of Indonesia.

Dutch warships set up blockades at entrances to rivers and small bays on the south coast of New Guinea Tuesday in a bid to trap three of four Indonesian torpedo boats.

A Dutch spokesman said the torpedo boats were intercepted off the coast by Dutch planes during the nights of March 25 and 26 but fled to shallow water to avoid pursuit by larger ships.

The Netherlands news agency reported that a Dutch KLM DC-8 airliner left Willemstad, Curacao, early today two destroyers and two submarines were en route to New Guinea.

Unconfirmed reports here said the Dutch may use the warships to evacuate Dutch from the territory.

ALGERIANS WELCOME RUSS OFFER

LONDON (Reuters) — The Algerian insurgent provisional government has agreed "with pleasure" to Russia's offer to establish diplomatic relations, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Khrushchev earlier this month announced Russia's recognition of the Algerian provisional government and suggested the establishment of diplomatic relations.

This was followed by France recalling its ambassador in Moscow and "inviting" the Soviet ambassador in Paris to return to Moscow.

RESTED AFTER TOUR OF INDIA

Jackie Guest of Queen

LONDON (Reuters)—Jacqueline Kennedy, rested after her strenuous tour of the Indian subcontinent, was a guest of the Queen at a luncheon party at Buckingham Palace today.

The American president's wife, wearing a pink coat and mink hat, drew cheers from a crowd of 500 who gathered outside the palace to see her arrive.

Grenadier Guards snapped to attention and saluted as her car entered the palace courtyard and she got out and posed briefly for photographers.

She told reporters: "It's a great honor and very kind of the Queen to invite me." In answer to a question, she said she was well-rested.

Guests included Prime Minister Macmillan and his wife; American Ambassador and Mrs. Dave Bruce; the Duke of Devonshire, a relation of the president by marriage, and, Prince and Princess Radziwill, Mrs. Kennedy's brother-in-law and sister.

Earlier, women's organizations and a number of individual women sent telegrams to Mrs. Kennedy asking her to use her "influence" with President Kennedy to halt nuclear tests.

The United States plans to resume testing next month unless an agreement banning tests is reached with Russia.

A group of worthy citizens has decided to spend its party funds in a novel way.

Independent Merchants United, an organization of food merchants, was looking forward to its annual "bash" but then heard about the drive to raise funds for the new wing of St. Joseph's Hospital.

The doughty burghers immediately agreed to forego the party and instead donate $100 to the fund.

Gaglardi Denies 'Contrived Sale'

Charges that the highways department took away private property for "contrived sale" to a motel were made in the legislature Tuesday.

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi denied them.

He said the department had bought the land and later sold it.

He said the owners, who had unsuccessfully applied for a fiat to sue the government, were mistaken if they thought they still owned the land.

The issue was raised by Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCF—Vancouver East).

A petition of right seeking a fiat had been sent to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black Jan. 27, 1961, he said, by Harold Dremin acting for his late mother, Mrs. Elena Smook. A renewed application two months ago still was unanswered, said Mr. Macdonald.

The Dremin-Smook property consisted of 10 acres near Oak St. Bridge, sold to the highways department for $32,000 in 1956.

Mr. Macdonald said the Smook family claimed another piece had been taken without compensation in 1958.

In 1959 the highways department had sold the land to a construction company for $5,200.

"Today the Delport Motor Hotel stands upon the property," said Mr. Macdonald.

"This was a wrongful taking it appears to me."

He said the highways department had declared the land as needed for a public highway, but later passed a cabinet order approving the sale.

"They allege it was a contrived and prearranged sale," said Mr. Macdonald.

"They say the department of highways can't take land from people to use for a motel."

He said the government should allow them to state their case in court.

"I regret very much the government has been prone to deny from time to time not only the right of shareholders but the right of private citizens to go to the courts."

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said outside the House he didn't know anything about the case.

However, Highways Minister Gaglardi did.

"We did purchase the property," he said.

"Sometimes this takes several years before this actually shows up on their title deed."

It was a question of surveyors getting to the land and transferring it from the tax roll to the list of government-owned property.

This was what happened in the Smook case. The title deed still didn't show record of the sale.

Mr. Gaglardi said Mr. Dremin's lawyers had asked if he could buy the land back before it was sold to the construction company.

They saw it hadn't been deleted from the title," he added. "Then they acted on the basis that it still belonged to them."

Polio Vaccine Gets Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Surgeon-General Luther Terry announced Tuesday "another step forward toward final conquest of paralytic polio" with the licensing of Type III oral polio vaccine for general use.

The Type III vaccine was the last of the series of oral vaccine needed for protection against all three types of polio.

Electramatic Drive is offered on both the V-75 illustrated and the 40 hp.

First Electramatic Drive in Outboards:

The invention of Electramatic Drive makes the Johnson V-75 and 40 Sea-Horse the most convenient-to-drive-outboards you can buy.

A single, foolproof lever controls the throttle and electrically engages the clutch. The pictures below show how the lever and clutch work. Push the lever forward to go ahead, back for reverse. The single-lever makes it impossible to move the wrong lever or race the motor in neutral. The clutch has two electro-magnets. One for forward, the other for reverse. As you move the single lever forward an electric contact is made. Instantly the clutch is activated. Move it back to neutral, and instantly the clutch cuts out. When you move the lever backwards, the other electro-magnet cuts in and back you go.

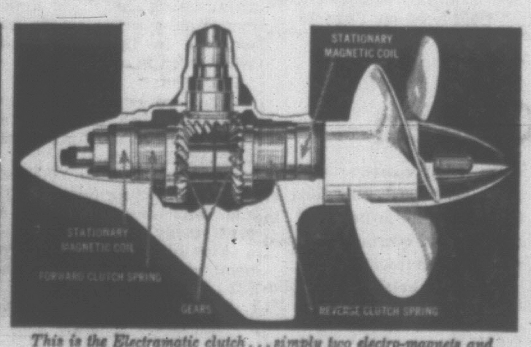

Will the electric clutch wear out? Hardly. Since electro-magnets have no moving parts, wear is virtually eliminated. And the electric clutch action is smooth, instant and totally silent.

Electramatic Drive is available on both the mighty V-75 (illustrated) and the Sea-Horse 40. Your Johnson Dealer can show you which of these powerful Sea-Horses offers the measure of power, dependability and economy you want. See him now.

Your Johnson dealer also carries a complete line of Sea-Horse accessories, including generator kits, power-tilt kits, radio-noise-suppression kits and propellers. With almost a thousand dealers across Canada, service is never a problem when you own a Johnson.

This is the Electramatic clutch . . . simply two electro-magnets and two clutch springs. Smooth, fast, long-wearing.

45-2 VOTE

House Backs Trade Stamp Death Knell

The two opposed — Gordon Dowding (NDP-CCF — Burnaby) and Leo Nimsick (NDP-CCF—Cranbrook) — protested not in favor of stamps, but against the way in which the legislation against them was drawn up.

A third NDP-CCFer, Mrs. Lois Haggen of Grand Forks, also opposed it in debate, but stayed out of the House for the vote.

The legislation, which received second reading or approval in principle, was presented as a private bill by Dan Campbell (SC—Comox) chairman of a special committee which investigated stamp plans and recommended the new law.

The legislation will kill off stamp plans because it would only allow stamps worth more than 10 cents redeemable value.

Mr. Campbell read a statement from federal Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton which said that control of actual issuing of stamps by a merchant to his customer is an exclusive provincial right.

James Rhodes (NDP-CCF—Delta) said he "deplored" the way the bill had been introduced.

Bonner Had 'Tiger by the Tail'

He said that originally Attorney-General Robert Bonner had promised government-initiated legislation to ban stamps; then handed the matter over to the committee.

"I feel the attorney-general is shirking some of his responsibility because he literally had a tiger by the tail," said Mr. Rhodes.

Speaker Hugh Shantz called on the government to declare if it supported the private bill.

Premier Bennett said the government "consents."

"When it comes from committee we feel a private member can proceed with it," he said.

Mrs. Haggen protested the whole legislation.

"I did not go along with the major decision and I do not like legislation introduced in this particular way," she said.

"It does not do what the committee was set up to do," she complained.

She said she was not surprised a newspaper editorial called committee members "gutless wonders."

"The government has been afraid to take a stand on this," she said.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Mr. Rhodes had been "mischievous."

He said Mr. Campbell introduced the bill because he had been chairman of the committee and did most of the work on it.

"It carries out governmental policy which was endorsed by the committee," he declared.

Government to Enforce New Law

Mr. Bonner said the government welcomed the bill and promised: "It will be enforced."

Mr. Dowding attacked the bill for "indirect action" which might be beyond provincial powers.

"Thanks for the advertising," said the premier.

"I don't think the premier should even vote for this one," shot back Mr. Dowding.

He called the legislation: "Ducking and weaving and discrimination."

But John Squire (NDP-CCF—Alberni) said many top merchandising firms were practising "outright deceit."

"This is why we have to have this bill.

"There comes a time when you just have to put your foot down."

Mr. Campbell said Saskatchewan, Alberta and Washington had all banned stamps. Now B.C. should act too.

He accused Mrs. Haggen and Mr. Rhodes of "parliamentary discourtesy of the worst kind" for discussing what had gone on during in camera committee sessions.

Church Denies Charge

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — The Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York has denied a wife's charges that the church broke up her marriage to a priest, her lawyer said Tuesday.

The wife, Mrs. Alice Ryan, 41, mother of four from Glen Head, N.Y., has filed a $2,300,000 damage suit against the church in state Supreme Court here.

She claimed in her suit that her husband, Walter A. Ryan, a former priest now living in San Francisco, was taken from their home April 4, 1955, by use of force and intoxicants and was held in monasteries against his will.

Mrs. Ryan's lawyer, Philip Feiring, said Tuesday he received the answer to the lawsuit from two of the defendants, the archdiocese of New York and Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York.

Feiring said the answer, which came from a New York law firm representing the diocese, was "tantamount to a general denial" of Mrs. Ryan's charges.

Breakwater Walk Sought By Oak Bay

The federal government, which built the breakwater, is going ahead with plans to replace the beach with over 2,000 tons of rock, clay and sand.

Oak Bay's idea is to extend the present rockfill over to the island with culverts beneath it to allow the tides to flow through, relieving the structure of undue strain.

It is hoped the whole structure may be paved to provide a scenic walk.

Another drawback to the present arrangement is inadequate protection for boats.

Although built to provide protection for craft in the Oak Bay Boathouse waters, the breakwater now shelters only those craft at docks near the shore and not those at anchor.

Must Control Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. Edward Teller told a House space subcommittee Tuesday the United States must gain control of the moon for its own security.

The distinguished scientist, sometimes called the father of the hydrogen bomb, urged a program to establish a large, highly independent colony on the moon.

"We need the moon for our own safety," Teller said.

TCA TO BOOST ECONOMY-CLASS FARES

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines plans to boost its economy-class fares next Sunday on all flights within Canada. But its privately-owned rival, Canadian Pacific Airlines, has refused so far to go along with the fare jump.

This means that as of April 1, passengers will pay $120 to fly economy class via TCA from Montreal to Vancouver, while on CPA, the economy-class fare still will be $110.

Aviation circles believe the fight over economy-class fares may be a factor in forcing a showdown in Ottawa on CPA's long-standing bid for more domestic flights. Right now, CPA is restricted to one daily return flight between Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

When CPA won the right to a daily transcontinental run in 1959, it was promised a review of the frequency of flights and the stops sometime in 1961.

TCA recently reported the biggest deficit of its 24-year history, blaming the $6,450,082 dip into the red in 1961 on a revolutionary shift in passenger travel to economy class. CPA is also expected to report a loss when it reveals its 1961 financial picture sometime in May.

TCA filed its new economy-class tariff with the air transport board about a month ago. It called for across-the-board increases, ranging from a $1 boost on flights of 60 miles or less to $10 on flights of 1,500 miles or more.

A Grain of Agreement

THE NEWS REPORTS SAY that U.S. Secretary of State Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko have parted on a note of hope. Neither of them, it appears, wishes to resort to war to settle the Berlin problem. But neither will change policy.

It is a measure of the sad state of the world when so tenuous a hope for peace can be viewed as a cause of satisfaction. Mankind's stand for peace turns out to be little more than a handhold on a crumbling brink.

Yet it is apparent that the subtle balance of international affairs has swung in the direction of peace and negotiation. Even an occasional rough threat from Mr. Khrushchev does not seem to disrupt the overall climate of progress.

One reason may be that the world has hung in the shadow of the threat of war for so long that it can no longer react with great alarm to verbal scares. "Mr. Khrushchev again," seems to be the general thought when Moscow emits a bark. There was much greater perturbation when something concrete, like the danger of nuclear fallout from bomb tests, occurred.

The negotiations of the Big Three foreign ministers will now revert to the 17-nation committee set up to study disarmament. No one holds much hope that agreement will be reached. Yet here and there the degree of difference has narrowed; by slow stages the world is reaching a point at which agreement could take place if the great powers desired it.

Yet even here it is difficult to point to actual gains. The main talks still founder on the rocks of international inspection of disarmament, and a compromise solution seems to be a long way off.

It is true that scientific progress in detection has made it almost impossible to launch a missile or fire a nuclear explosion without other countries learning about it immediately. This should ensure detection of any atmospheric tests, whether or not in violation of an agreement. And large underground tests could also be detected in other parts of the world.

There still remain, however, smaller, so far undetectable explosions which could yield important weapons information. And without on-the-ground inspection it would be difficult to learn if a country was busily manufacturing nuclear arms of an already tested type.

Russia comes out with the most far-reaching and immediate disarmament proposals. Everything within four years, was Mr. Khrushchev's offer. How could he be sincere about this plan yet still wreck any hope of seeing it implemented?

About the only clear point emerging from recent talks is the Soviet warning that if the United States holds any further nuclear tests, Russia will also stage more. That is a simple and clear ultimatum; it can be understood and believed by the West. And it shows the lengths to which Mr. Khrushchev, pressed by food problems at home, by ideological conflicts with Red China, and by the relentless ambitions of those in the hierarchy which he leads, is prepared to go. For it means he would risk the discontent of goods-hungry people at home to plunge deeper into the arms race.

The Liberal Choice

IN AN UNEXPECTED MOVE, Victoria Liberals have rejected the federal candidacy of General Charles Foulkes, a nationally-known figure, and nominated Thomas Foster Isherwood of Hope, who has been twice defeated in previous attempts at the polls. They did so by democratic vote and by the due process of ballot. But in so doing they set for themselves a difficult task.

While he has family connections in Victoria dating back many years, Mr. Isherwood is not a resident of this city and this in itself has traditionally proved a formidable hurdle to candidates. General Foulkes retired to Victoria two years ago, after a brilliant army career, and manned the sally-ports for a vigorous attack on the defence policies of the Conservative government.

This, indeed, may well be the reason he lost to Mr. Isherwood by the narrow margin of two votes. The military have not done too well in the history of Canadian politics; General McNaughton is an outstanding example. Mr. Isherwood, in mailed appeals and from the platform—where he proved himself an able and persuasive speaker—hammered home the argument that Canada should not expand the "nuclear club" and apparently was able to identify his opponent with a conflicting view.

The fact that 350 persons attended the nominating meeting is evidence of the vigor of the Liberal party locally and of its desire to unseat the Conservative incumbent in Ottawa, whose record has been undistinguished. Having made their choice, the Liberals must now face the pragmatic consideration: can this man be elected? In terms of practical politics, and perhaps unfortunately, this remains the fundamental fact of political life.

Who Does the Referee Play For?

ONCE AGAIN MR. ALEX Matthew has proved his incompetence as deputy speaker and justified earlier efforts of the opposition to have him removed from that office.

When Mr. Matthew is politically deaf to Mr. Waldo Skilling's smear of Mr. Alan Macfarlane—"Are you on the payroll of the B.C. Power Corporation?"—but can hear, and order withdrawal of, the Oak Bay member's sharp and reasonable criticism of that cheap and dishonorable innuendo, Mr. Matthew is certainly not an unbiased chairman.

There is little wrong with Mr. Matthew's physical hearing. He has an attentive ear for soft-voiced comment from the Premier on his right. He offers a lame and unconvincing excuse for failure in his duties when he says "I didn't hear the (Skillings') remarks."

Mr. Matthew has long been accused of partisan activity as deputy speaker. And yet it is a cardinal principle of legislatures and parliaments that anyone presiding in that capacity, and that of Mr. Speaker, of course, ceases to be an effective official when he loses the confidence of either side of the House.

The public, which has read of the recent incident, must wonder why an honest man was ordered by anyone to withdraw his comment that "That's a scurrilous, rotten, low-down thing to say" when someone has asked him if he were on the payroll of a party financially interested in certain legislation.

This, it appears, is the way the game is played according to Social Credit rules. It may be too much to hope for fair play under the existing administration. But how far can the referee identify himself with one of the teams and get away with it?

Is This the 'Manly Art'?

AT THIS WRITING BENNY Paret is a 25-year-old Cuban lying near death in a New York hospital. He is in that condition because he remained on his feet long enough to absorb terrible punishment from another professional fighter who followed accepted procedure to beat him down and take from him the world welterweight championship.

This tragedy of the ring is particularly shocking because millions of people watched the fight on television. They participated vicariously in an event which is variously described as entertainment and sport.

Those people are disturbed today. They would not willingly associate themselves with the beating of a human being almost to death.

No one assumes that the winning fighter had that end in mind when he pressed his attack on Paret. His objective was victory, with the rewards it brings in the professional fight game. To achieve it he sought to render his opponent insensible by a knockout, which is the usual aim of a professional fighter in the ring.

In the present case, that objective was pushed to the ultimate. That is something to occupy the minds of television fight audiences.

Let's Put the Pageant Over ... the Edge

NOW, ladies and gentlemen, as you know we must plan ahead for the city's centennial pageant, and I hope we may count on the whole-hearted support of all organizations in the community in order to make this a really outstanding event. Naturally, we shall want a good location—for the pageant and the most suitable dates possible. With hundreds taking part in the colorful review of our history we shall need the best showcase in the city. Now, we are open for suggestions as to how best to go about it.

Tobin

Mr. Chairman, before we go further into the problem I would like to put in a word. No one can outdo me in enthusiasm for the pageant. It will be a great thing for the whole community. But I would like to say—without in any way detracting from the pageant or wishing in any way to hamper it—that the baseball players of this community must insist on having the main park at all times necessary for our games. Anything less would do great damage to a sport which has been built up painfully over the years. But of course we wish every success for the pageant.

Thank you, sir. Yes, of course, we, ah, wish every, ah, success for the pageant. I'm sure a helpful compromise can be worked out to safeguard your interests.

Mr. Chairman, I would also like to throw my whole support to the pageant. This will be one of the finest things seen here. There is just one little thought I would like to leave with you, however. I belong to a group of horseshoe pitchers and we have been in the habit of using the main park for our practices and games. I'm sure we can count on continuing this procedure, and that the place and time for the pageant may be adjusted with this in mind.

Well, uh, thank you sir. We are much heartened by your support. I'm sure that arrangements can be made so that the pageant will not interfere with your sport. So may—ah, yes, you would like to speak?

Yes, Mr. Chairman. I represent the Ladies Grecian Dance and Eurythmic Wand Drill Club of Victoria West. No doubt you know that we plan to stage a number of displays during the summer, and we have already made arrangements to use the main park several evenings each week when the weather is warm. Of course we wouldn't dream of interfering with the staging of the pageant, but you will readily agree that we couldn't possibly give up any of our evenings.

Hmmm, I see. Well, thank you for your warm wishes for the pageant. I'm sure we can work out some schedule. Now, has anyone—yes sir?

Mr. Chairman, I am the president of the Pointers and Setters Breeders Association. We breed pointers and setters. And I should explain that we have the use of the main park for training on certain days of the week—always have had, you know—and we shall expect to continue as usual. I'm sure you understand. Of course we wish the pageant every success. Wonderful thing, as a matter of fact.

Thank you, sir. Well, we seem to be getting on. Anyone else with any helpful suggestions? Yes, madam?

Our annual baby show will be held in the main park as usual this year, Mr. Chairman. I'm sure the pageant officials will be happy to give us our choice of dates. Youth of the country and all that, you know. Heritage of the future, the seed corn, opportunity for youth, and so on.

I'm sure the pageant can be so arranged as not to conflict with your events, madam. Now, we have received a number of letters in the mail, each setting out dates and times required for use of the main parks and other locations this summer. We are very happy to note that without exception every organization gives full support to the pageant. And all offer helpful suggestions for ways in which the pageant may be held in a manner that will not interfere with their activities. Now our secretary has just compiled all the information, along with your helpful comments here this evening, and he will give us the gist of his conclusions.

Mr. Chairman. I am happy to say that by giving due regard to all the prior commitments for parks and dates, we shall be able to stage our giant pageant parade at 2 a.m. on Oct. 23, on a route along Store Street, after which the full pageant show will be held on the city garbage wharf. With all of us pulling together I'm sure it will be a great success.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

'No Edgelow Week'

We have "This Week" and "That Week" . . . why can't we have "No Edgelow Week"?

Every time we pick up the paper, it's Edgelow this and Edgelow the other. (So ubiquitous is the name Edgelow that one sees it before even headlines.)

It wouldn't matter if Edgelow added any strength to the community, but what strength does an alderman add who can't cogently analyze? If it isn't well known that Edgelow comes up with ready-made phrases that sound impressive and mean nothing.

"We would be starting a dangerous precedent if we hung this type of work in the city hall." That quotation is attributed to Mr. Edgelow in the Times, March 17, 1962. Did anyone ever hear of such a nonsensical statement? Why doesn't he enlarge on the "dangerous precedent"? Because he couldn't do so. It is a phrase that sounds impressive, and that's good enough for Mr. Edgelow.

LONG SUFFERING.

Non-Nuclear Club

Canada will shortly be faced with one of the most important decisions that a country can make in the United Nations, that is to join or not to join the Non-Nuclear Club proposed by Sweden.

I understand that Mr. Diefenbaker has to give Canada's answer to the U.N. not later than April 1st (is it a coincidence that this should be April Fool's Day?). I should like, through the medium of your Letters-to-the-Editor column, to urge all those Victorians who are seriously concerned about the possibility of war-by-accident, to wire or write special delivery (postage 15 cents, envelope marked "Special Delivery") to Mr. Diefenbaker asking him to keep Canada from setting the evil example that will not only make her anti-nuclear attitudes appear hypocritical but will encourage other nations like West Germany, Czechoslovakia and so on, also to demand nuclear weapons.

National Education System

The increasing cost of education is ever present in the minds of the people these days and much divergence of opinion prevails in connection therewith. I submit that the whole question should be based on the following:

1. The cost should be borne by the federal government either wholly or at least in part.

2. Higher education should be limited to the aptitude of the pupil to assimilate it.

3. Every child should be entitled to a free education (up to a certain grade) but only those who have the ability, perseverance and determination to succeed should be given the opportunity to obtain their objective. Those who can not qualify under the aforesaid conditions should be provided with a period of manual or technical training to fit them to take their place in life as useful citizens.

4. Palatial buildings with never-ending thrills can not educate a child and the cost thereof should be greatly curtailed. Fifty or sixty years ago the little "Red School House" which cost a few hundred dollars produced governor-general gold medalists—with the aid of teachers of course.

5. Apart from the province of Quebec there should be a uniform curriculum throughout the whole Dominion—in other words a national system of education.

Hats Off to Bob Brown

I am sure all interested in animal welfare must have thrilled on reading the account in your paper of the rescue of the puppy, overcome by smoke from a recent fire, by the quick thinking and action by fireman Bob Brown. To my knowledge this is the first case of this kind to have been reported in B.C.

Passing Phase

Long before all this City Hall-Siebner controversy started, I, along with many others, deplored the space used by the Times to reproduce these so-called pictures.

They were nothing but ugly scrawls, careless, and untutored. The perpetrator had never even learned to draw. They might have been the doodlings you see on telephone pads.

This silly fashion that calls itself Art is a passing phase, like the Twist and beehive hair-dos for girls. It will pass and the next generation will laugh at it.

But it is lamentable to find anybody taking it seriously. I suppose there are some who want to be taken for "the intelligentsia" and are afraid to voice their own opinions. Let them read the old classic, "The Emperor's Clothes" and come to earth.

Impatient? Why Not?

One certainly cannot blame Mr. Gregson for getting impatient with respect to the cinder situation.

Had others put up with the nuisance such as many of us have over the years, then perhaps they too would get very impatient.

White Magic In the Polls

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WHAT may be called the phenomenon of Dr. Gallup has now reached quite astonishing proportions. The point is that if Dr. Gallup's poll-takers are right, all the political wiseacres are crazy—and vice versa. Most of the wiseacres expect the Democrats to lose at least a few House seats next November. The party in power traditionally loses in off-year elections. The rule has held true, indeed, in every off-year since 1934. The view of the wiseacres is plainly shared by the Congress. If the members of Congress had detected some strange Democratic magic at work in the land, they would not be considering the President's legislative program with such languid distaste, verging on open hostility.

Alsop

Yet Dr. Gallup and his poll-takers have collected evidence that the most powerful and unprecedented sort of magic is at work. They do not say so in so many words, being content to print their mysterious percentages without much further comment. But the Gallup poll-takers are in fact forecasting an extraordinary Democratic sweep in the Congressional elections next November.

The figures to look at are not those showing that an enormous majority of Americans "approve" of the way President Kennedy is handling his job. Those figures are old hat, and they proved quite meaningless in the Congressional contest in President Eisenhower's time.

Significant Figures

The figures to look at are the remarkable series of polls showing how the electorate would vote if the Congressional elections were being held immediately. In April, last year, the split was 57 per cent for the Democrats and 43 per cent for the Republicans; in August, the same; in November, 58 per cent for the Democrats and 42 per cent for the Republicans.

These figures have now been topped, moreover, by a new poll showing a split of 61 per cent for the Democrats and only 39 per cent for the Republicans.

In this last poll, according to the Gallup organization, the number of undecided polls was very low indeed—only 5 per cent hopelessly undecided, with another 5 per cent distributed between the two parties as "leaners."

The samples in all these polls were comparatively small—only 1,600, nationwide. But the consistency of the series of four polls altogether outweighs the smallness of the sample. If poll-taking has any meaning whatever, these polls are meaningful.

Furthermore, poll-taking has proved meaningful, at least in predicting voting percentages, in the long series of previous Congressional elections. In the last three off-year elections, 1950, 1954, and 1958, the actual distribution of the vote between the Republican and Democratic parties has never been more than 1 per cent off the Gallup prediction.

Finally, this March poll has to be taken seriously, for there has never been a really big swing in any off-year since 1946—the "steak election," when the Republicans gained 5 percentage points between March and November. But the trouble is that if you take this March poll seriously, the forecast result next November is all but incredible.

Everyone is accustomed, by now, to thinking of the Democrats as enjoying a permanent edge over the Republicans. But if they really command 61 per cent of the electorate in this off-year election, they will top Franklin D. Roosevelt's record in 1936.

Changed Relations

In that year the Congressional vote was only 58.5 per cent Democratic, and the Roosevelt landslide carried 331 Democrats into seats in the House of Representatives.

The relation between voting percentages and House seats has changed since the 1930s. In 1960, the Democrats had a Congressional majority of 55 per cent, and won only 263 House seats. In 1958, their percentage was 56; and they won 281 House seats.

Voting percentages and House seats cannot be exactly correlated, either. In both 1950 and 1952, the Democrats got exactly 50 per cent of the total Congressional ballots. Yet their total of House seats dropped from 235 in 1950 to 213 in 1952, partly because 1952 was the first year when Republican Representatives were elected in the South.

With all these reservations, however, it is very plain that the Democrats must gain a substantial number of seats in the House this year, if the voting percentages next November are anything like those Dr. Gallup is now reporting. For example, they can drop back no less than three points in the Gallup poll, to a 58 per cent majority; and they would still elect at least 290 members of the House, for a gain of over 25 seats.

This will be black magic for the Republicans and white magic for the Democrats—if it happens. But at present, one can only say Dr. Gallup has never before reported such surprising and puzzling percentages.

A Grain of Agreement

THE NEWS REPORTS SAY that U.S. Secretary of State Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko have parted on a note of hope. Neither of them, it appears, wishes to resort to war to settle the Berlin problem. But neither will change policy.

It is a measure of the sad state of the world when so tenuous a hope for peace can be viewed as a cause of satisfaction. Mankind's stand for peace turns out to be little more than a handhold on a crumbling brink.

Yet it is apparent that the subtle balance of international affairs has swung in the direction of peace and negotiation. Even an occasional rough threat from Mr. Khrushchev does not seem to disrupt the overall climate of progress.

One reason may be that the world has hung in the shadow of the threat of war for so long that it can no longer react with great alarm to verbal scares. "Mr. Khrushchev again," seems to be the general thought when Moscow emits a bark. There was much greater perturbation when something concrete, like the danger of nuclear fallout from bomb tests, occurred.

The negotiations of the Big Three foreign ministers will now revert to the 17-nation committee set up to study disarmament. No one holds much hope that agreement will be reached. Yet here and there the degree of difference has narrowed; by slow stages the world is reaching a point at which agreement could take place if the great powers desired it.

Yet even here it is difficult to point to actual gains. The main talks still founder on the rocks of international inspection of disarmament, and a compromise solution seems to be a long way off.

It is true that scientific progress in detection has made it almost impossible to launch a missile or fire a nuclear explosion without other countries learning about it immediately. This should ensure detection of any atmospheric tests, whether or not in violation of an agreement. And large underground tests could also be detected in other parts of the world.

There still remain, however, smaller, so far undetectable explosions which could yield important weapons information. And without on-the-ground inspection it would be difficult to learn if a country was busily manufacturing nuclear arms of an already tested type.

Russia comes out with the most far-reaching and immediate disarmament proposals. Everything within four years, was Mr. Khrushchev's offer. How could he be sincere about this plan yet still wreck any hope of seeing it implemented?

About the only clear point emerging from recent talks is the Soviet warning that if the United States holds any further nuclear tests, Russia will also stage more. That is a simple and clear ultimatum; it can be understood and believed by the West. And it shows the lengths to which Mr. Khrushchev, pressed by food problems at home, by ideological conflicts with Red China, and by the relentless ambitions of those in the hierarchy which he leads, is prepared to go. For it means he would risk the discontent of goods-hungry people at home to plunge deeper into the arms race.

The Liberal Choice

IN AN UNEXPECTED MOVE, Victoria Liberals have rejected the federal candidacy of General Charles Foulkes, a nationally-known figure, and nominated Thomas Foster Isherwood of Hope, who has been twice defeated in previous attempts at the polls. They did so by democratic vote and by the due process of ballot. But in so doing they set for themselves a difficult task.

While he has family connections in Victoria dating back many years, Mr. Isherwood is not a resident of this city and this in itself has traditionally proved a formidable hurdle to candidates. General Foulkes retired to Victoria two years ago, after a brilliant army career, and manned the sally-ports for a vigorous attack on the defence policies of the Conservative government.

This, indeed, may well be the reason he lost to Mr. Isherwood by the narrow margin of two votes. The military have not done too well in the history of Canadian politics; General McNaughton is an outstanding example. Mr. Isherwood, in mailed appeals and from the platform—where he proved himself an able and persuasive speaker—hammered home the argument that Canada should not expand the "nuclear club" and apparently was able to identify his opponent with a conflicting view.

The fact that 350 persons attended the nominating meeting is evidence of the vigor of the Liberal party locally and of its desire to unseat the Conservative incumbent in Ottawa, whose record has been undistinguished. Having made their choice, the Liberals must now face the pragmatic consideration: can this man be elected? In terms of practical politics, and perhaps unfortunately, this remains the fundamental fact of political life.

Who Does the Referee Play For?

ONCE AGAIN MR. ALEX Matthew has proved his incompetence as deputy speaker and justified earlier efforts of the opposition to have him removed from that office.

When Mr. Matthew is politically deaf to Mr. Waldo Skilling's smear of Mr. Alan Macfarlane—"Are you on the payroll of the B.C. Power Corporation?"—but can hear, and order withdrawal of, the Oak Bay member's sharp and reasonable criticism of that cheap and dishonorable innuendo, Mr. Matthew is certainly not an unbiased chairman.

There is little wrong with Mr. Matthew's physical hearing. He has an attentive ear for soft-voiced comment from the Premier on his right. He offers a lame and unconvincing excuse for failure in his duties when he says "I didn't hear the (Skillings') remarks."

Mr. Matthew has long been accused of partisan activity as deputy speaker. And yet it is a cardinal principle of legislatures and parliaments that anyone presiding in that capacity, and that of Mr. Speaker, of course, ceases to be an effective official when he loses the confidence of either side of the House.

The public, which has read of the recent incident, must wonder why an honest man was ordered by anyone to withdraw his comment that "That's a scurrilous, rotten, low-down thing to say" when someone has asked him if he were on the payroll of a party financially interested in certain legislation.

This, it appears, is the way the game is played according to Social Credit rules. It may be too much to hope for fair play under the existing administration. But how far can the referee identify himself with one of the teams and get away with it?

Is This the 'Manly Art'?

AT THIS WRITING BENNY Paret is a 25-year-old Cuban lying near death in a New York hospital. He is in that condition because he remained on his feet long enough to absorb terrible punishment from another professional fighter who followed accepted procedure to beat him down and take from him the world welterweight championship.

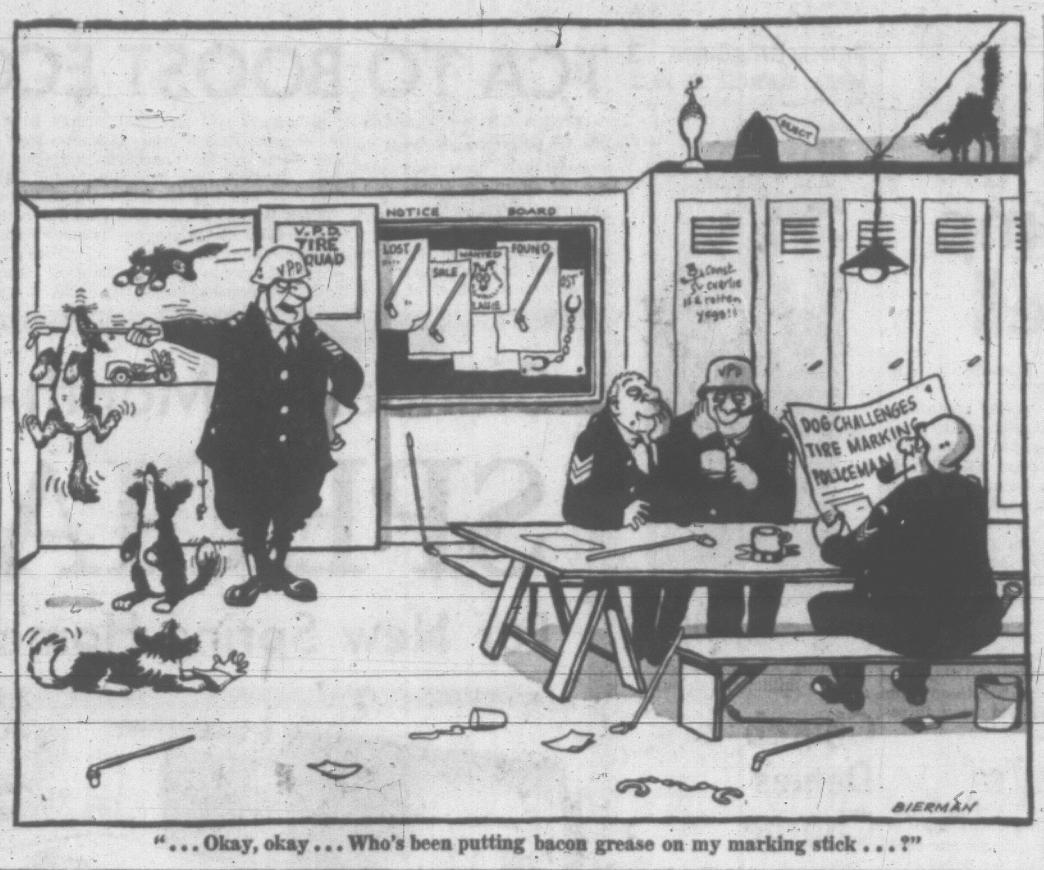

This tragedy of the ring is particularly shocking because millions of people watched the fight on television. They participated vicariously in an event which is variously described as entertainment and sport.

Those people are disturbed today. They would not willingly associate themselves with the beating of a human being almost to death.

No one assumes that the winning fighter had that end in mind when he pressed his attack on Paret. His objective was victory, with the rewards it brings in the professional fight game. To achieve it he sought to render his opponent insensible by a knockout, which is the usual aim of a professional fighter in the ring.

In the present case, that objective was pushed to the ultimate. That is something to occupy the minds of television fight audiences.

Let's Put the Pageant Over ... the Edge

By B. A. TOBIN

NOW, ladies and gentlemen, as you know we must plan ahead for the city's centennial pageant, and I hope we may count on the whole-hearted support of all organizations in the community in order to make this a really outstanding event. Naturally, we shall want a good location for the pageant and the most suitable dates possible. With hundreds taking part in the colorful review of our history we shall need the best showcase in the city. Now, we are open for suggestions as to how best to go about it.

Tobin

Mr. Chairman, before we go further into the problem I would like to put in a word. No one can outdo me in enthusiasm for the pageant. It will be a great thing for the whole community. But I would like to say—without in any way detracting from the pageant or wishing in any way to hamper it—that the baseball players of this community must insist on having the main park at all times necessary for our games. Anything less would do great damage to a sport which has been built up painfully over the years. But of course we wish every success for the pageant.

Thank you, sir. Yes, of course, we, ah, wish every, ah, success for the pageant. I'm sure a helpful compromise can be worked out to safeguard your interests.

Mr. Chairman, I would also like to throw my whole support to the pageant. This will be one of the finest things seen here. There is just one little thought I would like to leave with you, however. I belong to a group of horseshoe pitchers and we have been in the habit of using the main park for our practices and games. I'm sure we can count on continuing this procedure, and that the place and time for the pageant may be adjusted with this in mind.

Well, uh, thank you sir. We are much heartened by your support. I'm sure that arrangements can be made so that the pageant will not interfere with your sport. So may—ah, yes, you would like to speak?

Yes, Mr. Chairman. I represent the Ladies Grecian Dance and Eurythmic Wand Drill Club of Victoria West. No doubt you know that we plan to stage a number of displays during the summer, and we have already made arrangements to use the main park several evenings each week when the weather is warm. Of course we wouldn't dream of interfering with the staging of the pageant, but you will readily agree that we couldn't possibly give up any of our evenings.

Hmmm, I see. Well, thank you for your warm wishes for the pageant. I'm sure we can work out some schedule. Now, has anyone—yes sir?

Mr. Chairman, I am the president of the Pointers and Setters Breeders Association. We breed pointers and setters. And I should explain that we have the use of the main park for training on certain days of the week—always have had, you know—and we shall expect to continue as usual. I'm sure you understand. Of course we wish the pageant every success. Wonderful thing, as a matter of fact.

Thank you, sir. Well, we seem to be getting on. Anyone else with any helpful suggestions? Yes, madam?

Our annual baby show will be held in the main park as usual this year, Mr. Chairman. I'm sure the pageant officials will be happy to give us our choice of dates. Youth of the country and all that, you know. Heritage of the future, the seed corn, opportunity for youth, and so on.

I'm sure the pageant can be so arranged as not to conflict with your events, madam. Now, we have received a number of letters in the mail, each setting out dates and times required for use of the main parks and other locations this summer. We are very happy to note that without exception every organization gives full support to the pageant. And all offer helpful suggestions for ways in which the pageant may be held in a manner that will not interfere with their activities. Now our secretary has just compiled all the information, along with your helpful comments here this evening, and he will give us the gist of his conclusions.

Mr. Chairman. I am happy to say that by giving due regard to all the prior commitments for parks and dates, we shall be able to stage our giant pageant parade at 2 a.m. on Oct. 23, on a route along Store Street, after which the full pageant show will be held on the city garbage wharf. With all of us pulling together I'm sure it will be a great success.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

'No Edgelow Week'

We have "This Week" and "That Week" . . . why can't we have "No Edgelow Week"?

Every time we pick up the paper, it's Edgelow this and Edgelow the other. (So ubiquitous is the name Edgelow that one sees it before even headlines.)

It wouldn't matter if Edgelow added any strength to the community, but what strength does an alderman add who can't cogently analyze? If it isn't well known that Edgelow comes up with ready-made phrases that sound impressive and mean nothing.

"We would be starting a dangerous precedent if we hung this type of work in the city hall." That quotation is attributed to Mr. Edgelow in the Times, March 17, 1962. Did anyone ever hear of such a nonsensical statement? Why doesn't he enlarge on the "dangerous precedent"? Because he couldn't do so. It is a phrase that sounds impressive, and that's good enough for Mr. Edgelow.

LONG SUFFERING.

Non-Nuclear Club

Canada will shortly be faced with one of the most important decisions that a country can make in the United Nations, that is to join or not to join the Non-Nuclear Club proposed by Sweden.

I understand that Mr. Diefenbaker has to give Canada's answer to the U.N. not later than April 1st (is it a coincidence that this should be April Fool's Day?). I should like, through the medium of your Letters-to-the-Editor column, to urge all those Victorians who are seriously concerned about the possibility of war-by-accident, to wire or write special delivery (postage 15 cents, envelope marked "Special Delivery") to Mr. Diefenbaker asking him to keep Canada from setting the evil example that will not only make her anti-nuclear attitudes appear hypocritical but will encourage other nations like West Germany, Czechoslovakia and so on, also to demand nuclear weapons.

National Education System

The increasing cost of education is ever present in the minds of the people these days and much divergence of opinion prevails in connection therewith. I submit that the whole question should be based on the following:

1. The cost should be borne by the federal government either wholly or at least in part.

2. Higher education should be limited to the aptitude of the pupil to assimilate it.

3. Every child should be entitled to a free education (up to a certain grade) but only those who have the ability, perseverance and determination to succeed should be given the opportunity to obtain their objective. Those who can not qualify under the aforesaid conditions should be provided with a period of manual or technical training to fit them to take their place in life as useful citizens.

4. Palatial buildings with never-ending thrills can not educate a child and the cost thereof should be greatly curtailed. Fifty or sixty years ago the little "Red School House" which cost a few hundred dollars produced governor-general gold medalists—with the aid of teachers of course.

5. Apart from the province of Quebec there should be a uniform curriculum throughout the whole Dominion—in other words a national system of education.

Passing Phase

Long before all this City Hall-Siebner controversy started, I, along with many others, deplored the space used by the Times to reproduce these so-called pictures.

They were nothing but ugly scrawls, careless, and untutored. The perpetrator had never even learned to draw. They might have been the doodlings you see on telephone pads.

This silly fashion that calls itself Art is a passing phase, like the Twist and beehive hair-dos for girls. It will pass and the next generation will laugh at it.

But it is lamentable to find anybody taking it seriously. I suppose there are some who want to be taken for "the intelligentsia" and are afraid to voice their own opinions. Let them read the old classic, "The Emperor's Clothes" and come to earth.

One certainly cannot blame Mr. Gregson for getting impatient with respect to the cinder situation.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Other Side of the Barricades

SO long ago that I can remember neither the name of the author nor the name of the piece—though I think it was a short French classic—I read a story about the man behind the barricades.

Stott

The rebel had grown old fighting for a cause that faced overwhelming odds. Nothing daunted him. When the call went out, he took his gun and fought from a position of danger in the street fortifications.

Finally, as sometimes happens in history, his cause prevailed. The forces whose battle he had made his own became the government. Arrayed against it — and now on the short-handed side of the barricades fighting authority—was the formerly all-powerful opposition reduced in numbers and in popular appeal.

And with the outnumbered they found the old rebel. He had given a lifetime to fighting for the losing side and couldn't adapt himself to victory when it came. He had been too long on the other side of the barricades.

On a completely unheroic scale, I find myself in a somewhat parallel position. Over the years I've fired my popgun at the "Vote No" brigade. That becomes a habit, also.

You can reach the point where you "Vote Yes" automatically because you've seen so many good causes die under the weight of "no" votes. This isn't quite being a "yes-man" but it can come close to it.

So while more energetic artillery has been firing salvoes to "Save Foul Bay Road," my popgun has been silent. Now the silence seems a little craven to me. I was afraid that I'd sound like a "Vote Noer" if I spoke out against the change. I haven't been on either side of the barricades. I've been hiding in the cellar and it's time I got out.

It won't make much personal difference to me what they finally call the road that starts now at the east end of Foul Bay and straggles through a morass of undeveloped municipal planning up to Lansdowne Road. It will still be Foul Bay Road to me, just as Foul Bay is Foul Bay in spite of the romantic Spanish "Gonzales" tag some authorities plastered on it.

Let 'em call it University Way if they want.

I am finally taking my position on the barricades. I don't even call the institution split between Lansdowne and Gordon Head the University. To me it's still Victoria College even though I'm all for the degree-granting, university status it has achieved.

But what's the point of calling that tarvia-covered cowpath from Oak Bay Avenue to the water University Way? The university people, bless 'em, deserve something better—and so do we who are happy to live on Foul Bay and adjacent to Foul Bay Road.

As a boy I used to give a reasonably scholarly lecture to newcomers on the origin of Foul Bay. It wasn't, I'd explain, that a chicken farm once bordered the water. The chicken farm was closer toward Fairfield. And it wasn't the smell of decaying kelp, though you have to be a native to call that ozone.

Nor was it the occasional unsavory perfume of garbage returning to the beach. It was, I told them, a name derived from the rocks and reefs in the water that made the place unsafe for unwary skippers—foul anchorage and fouled passage. That was my story, and I haven't had occasion to vary it.

Mind you, you could get a new explanation for the name when the wind blows south-by-south-east across the Strait with the ceiling low and the pulp mill near Port Angeles going full blast. But that's progress—or so I'm told.

Anyhow, I'm tired of folks changing the familiar names and the familiar scene around here. We old barnacles aren't as adaptable as some of the more refined elements of recent arrival might want us to be. So I'm applying for membership in the "Vote No" society.

As Mr. Shakespeare said in part:

"Fair is Foul and Foul is fair,
I love College but not the university air."

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Joy Forever in Fragrant Shrub

In the spring a gardener's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of what he would like to plant in the garden.

Sometimes it happens that insufficient space is available for any further extensive planting, yet the urge to add another plant persists. In such cases, the selection of a small - growing, fragrant shrub would satsify most discerning gardeners.

Hilda

Fragrance in the garden is appreciated, yet is not sought as it should be.

Just this year I came across a little shrub with small, scented white blossoms in February. In England, where it was introduced from China early in the 19th century, it is commonly called Sweet-box. But it should be known formally as Sarcococca ruscifolia (pronounced sar,ko-kok-a; Greek sarx—flesh, kokka—a berry, fleshy berries; rus-ke-fo-le-a, possibly from Celtic—box, and leaf, box-leaved.)

I will admit the name might be a stumbling block to its deserved popularity.

This is a small growing shrub for a spot in the shade of other larger shrubs or trees, so long as the soil is well nourished and not allowed to become dry. The shiny evergreen leaves will be an all-year assets. The fragrant little flowers will come out during the mild spells in winter when anything of garden interest is priceless.

The ultmiate size of this little gem is given in various reference books as anywhere from two to six feet, yet it is definitely classed as a small shrub.

In a garden with other winter fragrant plants, Sarcococca would soon find a place in the gardener's heart.

22 KILLED IN CRASH OF AIRLINER

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban airliner crashed into the sea Tuesday night as its pilot tried desperately to return to the airport, Havana radio reported today. All 22 aboard were reported killed.

The broadcast, monitored here, said the pilot told the control tower just before going down that he was having trouble and intended to turn back to the Santiago de Cuba landing field, from which he had just taken off.

All the victims and crew members had Spanish names. The crew included a pilot, co-pilot, steward and an armed guard. Guards have been assigned to all Cuban commercial flights for some time as a precaution against hijacking.

James Island Plant Wins Safety Award

Explosives workers of the Canadian Industries Ltd. plant at James Island have finished two years without lost time due to injury.

A certificate of commendation by the National Safety Council, a safety award by the Canadian Industrial Safety Association and the gold award of merit from the B.C. Safety Council were recently awarded to the plant's employees.

Fifty-five employees have a 375,000 man-hour record.

The James Island plant was previously the first one in British Columbia to establish a 1,000,000 man-hour period without a lost-time injury.

'Dragging His Feet'

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Congolese Premier Adoula Tuesday accused President Tshombe of Katanga province of dragging his feet in their talks here on ending Katanga's secession.

Adoula charged Tshombe was limiting himself to declarations that he lacked the mandate to make definite decisions and had to submit all his actions to the Katanga assembly for ratification.

In a communique issued after the resumption of their talks Tuesday morning, Adoula said if Tshombe persisted in his present tactics, the talks would end in an impasse "for which he would bear entire responsibility."

Full Consultations Proposed by Heath

LONDON (CP) — Edward Heath, Britain's deputy foreign minister, said on his return from Ottawa today there should be "full Commonwealth consultations" before Britain decides whether to join the Common Market.

"I believe the Canadian government is satisfied with the way negotiations are being carried out," Heath told reporters at London Airport.

He denied reports that he asked the Canadian government for a list of exports in the order of expendability for Britain's guidance in the elimination of tariff barriers which would be involved in Common Market membership.

Heath said Prime Minister Diefenbaker had expressed a desire for a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference before Britain joined the market.

Canada and other Commonwealth nations fear their economies will suffer if Britain joins the market without adequate safeguards.

"The position of the British government is that before any final decision is taken, there should be full Commonwealth consultations," Heath said.

He added: "We have always recognized that the questions regarding the Commonwealth have always been the most difficult to solve."

Press Control Board Plan In S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG (CP-AP)—Marius Jooste, chairman of the South African Press Union, Tuesday outlined some methods of a new voluntary press control board would use to combat what he called false reporting both inside and outside South Africa.

A board of reference, which would implement a newly-drafted press code of conduct, is to be appointed, Jooste told a meeting of reporters. Two former journalists and a former Supreme Court justice would make up the board, he said.

The press code of conduct was adopted recently by the Union of Newspaper Owners. The Society of Working Journalists called it unnecessary and a step in the direction of state control.

Jooste, manager of one of the newspapers headed by Premier Verwoerd, told the meeting the board could order that a report it decided was incorrect be published in other newspapers in South Africa. The board decision would be noted in connection with republication.

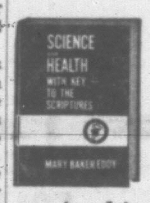

Similarly, reports in newspapers outside South Africa could be ordered reproduced in South African newspapers and the correspondent responsible for the report could be named, Jooste said.

B.C. Man Killed

VANCOUVER (CP) — John D. MacDougall of Vancouver was killed instantly Tuesday when he was crushed against an iron bar by a fork-lift vehicle. The mishap occurred at the W. H. Malkin plant when MacDougall's foot accidentally touched a control lever on the fork-lift.

Fiery Argue Assumes Role As Liberal Farm Critic

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP) — Former CCF national leader Hazen Argue, now a Liberal backbencher, began staking his claim to the job of Liberal farm critic in the Commons Tuesday night.

The farmer MP for Assiniboia jumped heartily into a debate on the Canadian wheat board, flaying the government and rousing the ire of Veterans Affairs Minister Churchill.

The bill extending certain wheat board powers for another five years was finally approved and sent to the Senate for endorsement.

A clause in the government measure allows the board to set up plans for group life insurance and group medical-surgical insurance for its employees.

Mr. Argue mildly inquired as to how many employees would be affected and what the plans would cost.

UP JUMPS ARGUE

Mr. Churchill said answers to such detailed questions could be easily given when officials of the wheat board appear before the commons committee on agriculture.

Up jumped the old Hazen Argue—not the new soft-voiced Liberal but the roaring CCFer, who led the CCF-New Democratic Party group in the Commons before resigning last month to join the Liberals.

"I want to protest the general attitude of the government in this regard," he shouted.

"What the minister is saying to us is—pass the clause, rubber stamp it, and then call in the wheat board officials and they will give you a kindergarten class after the law has been placed on the statute books."

"All right," said Mr. Churchill, "sit down and I will give it to you."

WON'T SIT DOWN

"I will not sit down," said Mr. Argue. "This is the Parliament of Canada and I do not have to take that from the minister."

If he heard Mr. Churchill's offer to provide the information, he chose not to let on that he had not.

He said Mr. Churchill's response was the "height of arrogance from an arrogant minister in an arrogant government."

When he finally sat down, Mr. Churchill said:

"You have just heard the honorable member for Assiniboia who is a master of bluster and noise."

Mr. Churchill added that there were 724 employees on the Canadian wheat board last July. The cost was not available because several insurance plans were being studied.

Civil Defence Splits House

The B.C. legislature split on the value of civil defence spending Tuesday night.

But this time some of the Opposition members, including leader Robert Strachan, approved a $250,000 vote for provincial civil defence.

Main opponent was Camille Mather (NDP-CCF-Delta).

She said the money was not worth spending on the pretext of providing protection against nuclear attack.

"There is no protection," she said.

R. O. Newton (SC—Columbia) disagreed.

Plans for a government bunker at Nanaimo were no good, he said.

"We should spend a lot of money and build some towns up in the mountains."

"The civil defence organization is ready, willing and able at least to handle a situation of civil disaster—whether it be flood, fire or what else."

WELL SPENT

Mr. Strachan said after a lot of soul-searching he had decided the money was well spent. Much of it had been used to strengthen such local services as firefighting.

He had been afraid that spending money on civil defence justified the use of nuclear weapons. But now:

"So long as there are madmen in the world—and I don't care which side they're on—then it is the responsibility of government to try to protect as many people as possible.

'MISGUIDED'

"He's completely misguided. He's really talking nonsense," said Mrs. Mather.

She said it was one thing to use the money for such disasters as floods and fires, but the public shouldn't be mislead into a false feeling of security that was for protection against bombs.

"People get the idea if they depend on the government they'll be able to protect themselves."

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, under whose department the money is voted, said the government was trying to advise people as to what they could do in the event of a disaster.

Mine-Mill Parley Defies Steelworkers

TORONTO (CP)—More accusations of election bribery, Red-baiting and general anti-labor behavior were heaped Tuesday on the rival Steelworkers union by the international Mine-Mill convention.

Free liquor, free beer and even a free turkey dinner have been used by Steel in northern Manitoba's nickel at Thompson to influence young workers, it was contended before the 200 delegates at the convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

Harvey Murphy, western region president who announced some years ago he had quit the Communist party, said the union must ignore "Red-baiting" tactics by the United Steelworkers of America (CLC)—or go down hill. His own western district hadn't been raided and was growing because it "didn't let Red-baiting get us."

Steel seeks to divide and conquer by such disruptive tactics and knuckling under will do no good, Mr. Murphy said. In his speech from the floor, he said he felt there was "some feeling" he shouldn't sit at the head table—and he hasn't.

BLAMES STEEL

"I am very sensitive on that point," he said, blaming the Steelworkers as "lousy stool pigeons" responsible for the fact he has been barred from entering the United States to attend Mine-Mill conventions there.

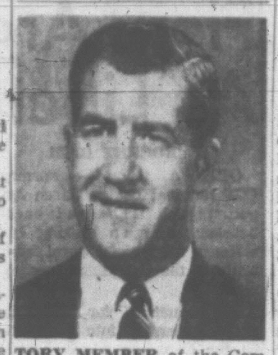

This is the first time the international convention has been held in Canada. International President John Clark assured Mr. Murphy his absence from the head table for official photos was inadvertent. No one was respected more in labor.

The convention, completing the second day of its five-day week, passed a resolution deploring raids, disruptions and expulsions in the North American labor movement and calling for efforts toward unity by the Canadian Labor Congress and AFL-CIO.

Mine-Mill is barred from affiliation with either and in the U.S. is facing a hearing on a recommendation by a federal board examiner that it be labelled Communist-infiltrated.

IN LABOR FIGHT

As an outcast from the central labor groups, it is subject to raids by other unions and in Canada is embattled at Thompson and at Sudbury, where legalities have tied up the results of a certification vote choosing between Steel and Mine-Mill. The 17,000 employees of International Nickel Company form Mine-Mill's largest Canadian local and much of its strength in this country.

TORY MEMBER of the Commons for riding of Vancouver-Burrard, John Taylor, has again been nominated to contest the next federal election for the Progressive Conservatives in the constituency.

PLAY 'RAN DOWN' IN THIRD ACT SAYS ADJUDICATOR

Injection of Subtlety Needed in 'Shrike'

By AUDREY JOHNSON

"A chilling theatrical experience," commented the adjudicator concerning Joseph Kramm's play, "The Shrike," second of four entries in the Dominion Drama Festival B.C. Regional, seen Tuesday night at Oak Bay Junior High School.

Toronto thespian David Gardner was critical of Gertrude Dennis' production for the Vagabond Players of New Westminster.

Describing the Pulitzer prize-winning drama as a modern tragedy in which conformity is the god and the pith of which is "a study of the effect of fear on the human mind," Mr. Gardiner said that the director had done a neat, no-nonsense job but felt the texture could have been richer and that more subtlety was needed.

FLAT, THIN

Generally an air of naturalism had prevailed but it was a naturalism that sometimes became flat and thin, he said.

Highest commendation of the evening was accorded the lighting and stage managership of Ian McMillan.

Smooth transitions from scene to scene in the 14 episodes of the play were skillfully achieved and maximum results had been obtained from the lighting resources, Mr. Gardner remarked.

The adjudicator found the cast somewhat uneven though with several highlights, from Miss Hansen (Kay Irving), "crisp, razor-edged—just the sort of nurse the script demanded," and Dr. Kramer (Stuart Leggatt), "a happy Ben Casey" to the "shrike" herself, Ann Downs, played by Marjorie Hughes.

(For the benefit of non-ornithologist, a, shrike is a bird of prey that impales its small victims on the spikes of thorn bushes and barbed wire fances, so preserving them for its convenience.)

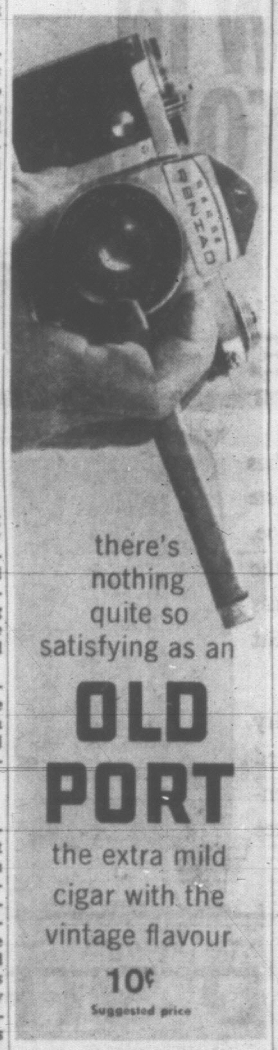

Mr. Gardner considered Miss Hughes a good actress but felt she had misjudged the character, creating her as a woman with the malicious intent of destroying her husband while in reality the script indicated she was motivated by a perverse, over-possessive love for him.

Rod Pearce as the husband, he had found disappointing: exceedingly earnest but strangely insincere. He had demonstrated emotions rather than felt them, although the adjudicator had found his final scene "quite moving."

Tonight, the North Kamloops PTA Theatre Wing will present a play set in Malaya during the Second World War, entitled "The Long and the Short and the Tall," by Willis Hall.

Winning Coaches Tough to Please

—AP Wirephoto

GLENN COULDN'T STOP THEM ALL

Goaltenders played starry roles at Montreal Tuesday night as Canadiens nipped Chicago Black Hawks 2-1 in opening game of Stanley Cup semifinal. Chicago's Glenn Hall exhibits skill as he kicks away shot by Jean Beliveau (4) for one of 34 saves he made during game as Jack Evans (5) and Bobby Hull (7) of Chicago and Montreal's Gilles Tremblay (21) watch play. But Glenn couldn't stop them all and Beliveau was back later to score goal that proved to be winner. Jacques Plante stopped 34 for Habs.

Rudy Satisfied; Toe Feels Habs Can Play Better

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens grabbed the opener of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal against Chicago Black Hawks Tuesday night but you'd never have known it from listening to the coaches afterwards.

Montreal coach Toe Blake was critical in victory after the 2-1 decision. Chicago's Rudy Pilous was almost cheerful in defeat.

Barely mollified by the third-period goals of Dickie Moore and Jean Beliveau, Blake merely said:

"We can play better. We were fooling around with the puck when we should have been passing and shooting."

Blake probably sounded the keynote of the game when he said "we expected the Hawks to hit more".

Hawks Not Hitting

The Hawks did some hitting, but not nearly as much as a year ago when they outbumped Canadiens in a semifinal round which they won in six games. They went on to take their first Stanley Cup in 22 years, ending a five-year Montreal reign as cup champions.

The Hawks were not overly disgruntled by the outcome.

Pilous was quick to recall the Hawks lost the first game last spring, then came back to win four of the next five to wrap up the series.

The second game of this year's round will be played here Thursday night. Then the scene shifts to Chicago for the third and fourth games April 1 and 3.

Strong goaltending by Montreal's Jacques Plante and Chicago's Glenn Hall was the feature of the first two periods as both teams checked closely before a crowd of 14,216.

Drive Deflected

Beliveau made it 2-0 about four minutes later on a goalmouth deflection of defenceman Tom Johnson's long backhand shot from the right point.

But Canadiens controlled most of the play in the dying minutes.

One of Chicago's most effective player was Bobby Hull, who drilled several shots—two during a first period power play—that gave Plante trouble.

Plante wound up with 36 saves, including three spectacular ones near the midway mark of the second period.

The Hawks got the breaks in the first period, but couldn't make them count. On four separate occasions they held a one-man advantage as a result of Montreal penalties but their best efforts were thwarted by Plante.

There were several minor skirmishes and referee Eddie Powers handed out 16 penalties —two of them misconducts late in the game.

Billy Hicke of Canadiens and Bill (Red) Hay of the Hawks drew the misconducts after remarks to Powers. All the other infractions brought minors, four to Montreal defenceman Lou Fontinato.

NHL STATISTICS

Plante Equals Record

MONTREAL—Official statistics have confirmed that Bobby Hull of Chicago is the National Hockey League scoring champion and Montreal's Jacques Plante is the top goalie for a record equalling sixth time.

Hull collected 50 goals over the season to tie a record held by two Montreal players—Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion—and finished in a tie with New York's Andy Bathgate with 84 points.

However, Bathgate had only 28 goals and in the event of a tie, the scoring trophy goes to the player with the most goals. Both men will get $1,000 from the NHL for their efforts.

Playing the full 70 games for the first time in his career, Plante had a 2.37 goals-against average to earn $1,000 and the Vezina Trophy, matching the six-trophy record of Montreal's Bill Durnan. Johnny Bower, Toronto, was second at 2.57.

Jinx Still Holds But Play Ragged As Leafs Triumph

TORONTO (CP)—New York Rangers are still seeking a formula that will produce a victory on Toronto Maple Leaf ice. Their time is running out.

They've tried eight times this season in vain. Their most recent attempt was Tuesday night in the opening game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final and they lost—as usual—4-2.

If any of the 12,892 fans were expecting a good show for their money, their hopes soon were dashed. There were a few fast rushes in the opening minutes, then both clubs settled down to close - checking—and unentertaining — hockey with many a satisfying moment for lovers of poor positional and ragged playing.

Leafs Shorthanded

Leafs were shorthanded on Horton's goal, and Armstrong's went into an empty net.

Ken Schinkel scored New York's first goal on a fluke and Earl Ingarfield got the other.

Officials of both clubs were dismayed.

"We're not going to have our own way in this series, that's for sure," said Toronto coach Punch Imlach. The Leafs "didn't play nearly as well as they could."

New York general manager Muzz Patrick was harsh—the Rangers "gave the Leafs three damn goals and we can't ever win if we play that way."

He was referring to the goals by Kelly, Keon, who beat Worsley after Dick Duff stole the puck from New York left winger Johnny Wilson, and Horton, who scored after Toronto centre Bob Pulford caught the defence napping.

In the seven regular season games in Toronto, Rangers went home beaten every time. The second game of the semi-final is Thursday night and if Rangers get licked their chances of recuperating will be getting questionable.

'Missed Chances'

Harvey, probably big-time hockey's coolest defenceman, discussed the game in the New York dressing room in low, measured tones.

"It was one of those games that could have gone either way," Harvey said. "We missed a few chances that might have meant a different outcome."

Harvey refused to single out any of his men who played poorly but conceded that he thought his whole team could have played better and so could the Leafs in what was pretty dull playoff hockey.

Vancouver's Hockey Future Settled Today

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — Spokane Comets took a 1-0 lead Tuesday night in the best-of-three Western Hockey League Southern Division playoffs, downing San Francisco Seals 4-1.

Bev Bell scored twice for the Comets to put them ahead to stay. Gord Stratton opened the Spokane scoring and Max Mekilok, the league's scoring champion, wound it up. Nick Mickoski scored the Seals' lone goal.

The second game of the series, to provide an opponent for the division - leading Portland Buckaroos, will be played in Spokane Thursday night.

Calgary and Seattle also meet Thursday night in the first game of the Northern Division best-of-three to provide opposition for the division-leading Edmonton Flyers.

Coach Bud Poile of the Flyers, meanwhile, announced arrangements for the first games of the best-of-seven Northern Division final.

DECIDE CANUCKS' FATE

Flyers meet the survivor of the Northern best-of-three April 2 and April 4 in Edmonton if the series is over in two games. If it goes three games the dates will be April 4 and April 6.

Directors of the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver today will decide the fate of Vancouver Canucks who failed to secure a playoff berth and lost at least $45,000 on the year's operations.

The Canucks, who won only 18 games, attracted a meagre 64,000 fans to their 35 home games. The club has lost $180,000 in the last six years.

Only one firm offer—$45,000—has been made for the club which the PNE bought from Coley Hall for $150,000. Vancouver businessman Harry Ornest has put up a certified cheque for half the amount at the request of PNE directors.

THE SCOREBOARD BY Harry Grayson

PHOENIX, Ariz. (NEA)—Titanic Thompson, the Magnificent Charlatan, was the kind you heard about when he cut a caper every now and then.

That Titanic was still in action at 64 seemed incredible, but then the man who became a living legend, starting in the Roaring '20s, always was incredible.

TITANIC THOMPSON

Not only was Titanic a tremendous wheeler and dealer in more ways than anyoody else, but he unquestionably was one of the most amazing all-round athletes who ever lived.

"Titanic could throw farther, shoot straighter, play golf, pool and poker better than any man I have ever come in contact with," said Paul Runyan. Horton Smith and numerous others who have seen Thompson agree.

Thompson — square moniker Alvin Clarence Thomas and out of the farming and cattle country of Missouri and Arkansas—was in the stud poker game in New York the night of Sept. 8, 1928, which resulted in the death of Arnold Rothstein. That was when Ty was really titanic—a tall, handsome, impeccably dressed, drawling westerner who would bet any amount on anything.

After nosing someone out at golf playing right-handed, Titanic would "give him a chance to get even" by playing left-handed. That happened to be his stronger side. When the victim lost again, Ty would wager that Leonard Dodson could beat him playing on one foot or making his shots from a rocking chair. And Dodson would.

Titanic won sizable wagers throwing loaded walnuts over buildings, tossing keys into old-fashioned keyholes, pitching coins into washbowls. He would lay 5-to-1 that he could throw a rock near two birds and pick which would take off first. He carried a kitten in his pocket and bet that it would stand up a bottle that was lying on its side.

★ ★ ★

Thompson threw playing cards through transoms, sliced bunches of flowers off the top of a vase with them. He won a wager by catching a rat in the basement of a Broadway restaurant, one he had planted there, of course. He'd wager that he could make seemingly impossible moves in chess and checkers.

Ty hot-rodded jalopies and beat late model stock cars. He bet that a well-known boxer couldn't once hit him in the face as he stood on the double fold of a newspaper.

★ ★ ★

The last time anybody heard of Titanic was when he was in a jam in Tucson several years ago. You heard that it was a bum rap.

In collaboration with Leonard Dodson, the golfer who travelled with Thompson for some years, Robert Joseph Allen has written a book on the man with the incredibly quick hands.

"Ty telephoned me from Albuquerque the other night," remarked Bob Allen, as we chatted in his home in the foothills on Phoenix' north side.

"Still looking for what he always called larcenous-minded marks who could afford to be taken?" I asked. "Wasn't it true that he made a lot of money in oil?"

"That is true," said Allen, "but he gets a kick out of trimming cheaters."

Most everyone believed that Titanic got his nickname because he wagered so heavily. It turns out, however, that he picked up the tag shortly after running away from home as a teen-ager. He bet $5 that he could dive over a pool table without touching it. He did and an old guy who witnessed the performance exclaimed, "Tarnation take me if that wasn't titanic."

Irishman Holds Greaves to Draw

LONDON (AP) — Canadian middleweight champion Wilf Greaves fought to a draw with Ireland's Mickey Leahy over 10 rounds Tuesday night after the Irishman survived two knockdowns.

Greaves, a former British Empire champion, made all the early running in a tough contest that had 12,000 fans on their feet in Wembley Stadium.

Vikings' Recruit

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Bob McNamara, a former Winnipeg Blue Bomber fullback, has signed with Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League as a free agent.

FIVE MORE WITHDRAW FROM GRAND NATIONAL

LONDON (AP)—Five more horses were pulled out of the Grand National steeplechase today, leaving 33 in next Saturday's big race at Aintree.

Meanwhile, at Lincoln, Hill Royal, a 50-to-1 outsider, today won the Lincolnshire Handicap, first big race of the 1962 season.

The four-year-old chestnut gelding won a desperate race by a neck from the heavily-backed Robson's Choice. Two lengths back in third place was the 7-to-1 favorite Honeymoor.

Sea-Duty, Grenier Stop Navy March

Navy, missing a chance to sew up the Esquimalt and District Hockey League playoff crown when they took a 9-1 thumping from Victoria College Vikings at the Sports Centre Tuesday, promised today that it will be a different story when the series resumes Friday.

The Sailors, who had taken the first two games of the best-of-five final in convincing fashion and were favored to wrap it up Tuesday, had five players—Cliff Smith, Claude McKenzie, Noel Farion, Gordie Albertson and goalie Norm Jones—absent on sea duty. All are scheduled to be back in port in time for Friday's fourth game.

They also ran into a red-hot Gordon Grenier in the Viking nets and a college club playing one of its best games of the season and may still have trouble stopping the students.

STOPPED 40

Grenier came up with a total of 40 saves, missing his shutout when he picked up a tripping penalty late in the third period and gave up a goal to Bill McFarlane while his club was shorthanded.

Doug Bambrough paced the Vikings with three goals. Cliff Russell and Jack Blair each scored a pair and Stu McFarland and Jim Galbraith added the other college tallies.

After 215 Pro Bouts, What'll 216th Show?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There is mounting suspcion that Archie Moore, after 26 years and 215 professional fights, must be nearing the end of the line.

Sharing this belief, and determined to do something about it, is Argentine heavyweight Alejandro Lavorante, at 25 young in years and practically an infant in ring experience.

Alex stands six - foot - four, weighs 210 pounds and has had 21 pro bouts. He has knocked out 15 men.

Moore, whose age is somewhere between 45 and 50, watched Lavorante cool Von Clay in two rounds last December and observed: "He is a dangerous young man."

Zora Folley, a ranking title contender, can agree. Lavorante knocked him out in seven rounds last May.

Moore, who has been stripped o recognition as world lightweight king by the National Boxing Association, is expected to weigh around 195 pounds Friday.

ACTED IN GOOD JUDGMENT, PROBERS SAY

Goldstein Exonerated

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State Athletic Commission, Tuesday upheld the referee's judgment and the medical precautions in the near fatal Paret - Griffith welterweight championship fight Saturday night in New York City.

The three - man commission, which had been asked by Gov. Rockefeller to report on the tragic fight, told the governor:

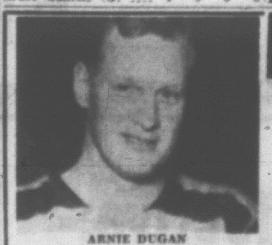

"It is our opinion that all possible medical precaution had been taken prior to the contest and referee (Ruby) Goldstein acted in good judgment in stopping the fight when he did."

Rockefeller released the report to the public with the sole comment—"I and my staff are giving full consideration to the report."

Benny (Kid) Paret, who was the welterweight champion, was battered senseless at Madison Square Garden by Emile Griffith. Paret still is in a coma and doctors say that even if he survives chances are slim that he ever will regain full control of his body because of the brain damage he suffered.

Meanwhile, Paret's wife feels her husband's condition is improving despite doctor's word that it remains "grave and unchanged."

Benny "is still in a coma but he tries to open his eyes," said Mrs. Paret Tuesday. She added he seems to recognize her voice and that he tries to hold her hand tightly.

In quarter-final play Paterson thumped Cam Dalgleish of Calgary 15-1, 15-4, while Rollick outlasted Sam McCallum of Niagara Falls, 15-7, 13-18, 17-14.

Burgess Kick Snaps Tie As All-Stars Clip Kiwis

VANCOUVER—New Zealand's Combined Universities rugby team was headed for home today after dropping a 9-6 decision to the B.C. All-Stars here Tuesday night in the final match of a 10-game tour of California and British Columbia.

The touring Kiwis, weakened by a host of injuries in the final games of their tour, won eight straight games before losing twice to B.C. teams.

The New Zealanders had only 14 players fit for Tuesday night's game. They used a former Auckland University player, Hugh Calder, who has been playing for Rowing Club of the Vancouver Rugby Union's first division, as their 15th man.

B.C. completely dominated the first half of Tuesday night's game and led 6-0 on two tries at half-time.

Winger George Pull opened the scoring for B.C. after nine minutes by taking a relay from centre Don Burgess of Victoria. Standoff Ted Hunt had set up the score. Burgess missed the convert.

Hunt also set up the second try scored by forward Jack Whitty 14 minutes before half time.

New Zealand's John Millar got three points back four minutes into the second half with a 22-yard penalty kick. Millar then tied the score 6-6 with another penalty goal from 20 yards.

Reps won the game on a 21-yard penalty kick by Burgess with 10 minutes remaining.

Old Style AGE
slower brewing is an Old Style tradition

Old Style is calmly brewed, with no concern for time. Faithful to our original recipe, carefully selected barley, hops and yeast are blended, brewed and, finally, put away to mature slowly in quiet ageing cellars. Brewed in this traditionally unhurried manner, Old Style's brilliant colour, fine flavour, and mellow taste mature naturally. Slower brewing is the reason so many people prefer Old Style.

'No Problem Outside Reach of Divine Love'

There is no problem outside the reach of divine love, Geith A. Plimmer of London told a large audience here Tuesday night.

"It is the natural province of God, divine love, to heal," Mr. Plimmer said. "From Moses' time onwards, spiritually-minded men in the Bible proved the power of God to heal both sin and sickness by spiritual means alone."

Jesus' unsurpassed works of healing were due to his fuller understanding of the spiritual laws that always heal when faithfully applied," he said.

A member of The Christian Science board of lectureship, Mr. Plimmer spoke in the church building, Chambers and Pandora, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Victoria, on the subject, "Christian Science: The Discovery of the Healing Christ."

The world is being roused to open the Bible and to honor and prove Christ's laws of healing, the lecturer stated.

You who have feeble knees, who find it hard to stand firm and feel life is worth facing," he said, "do open your hearts generously to the power and presence of God. This will gird you with new hope and faith . . ."

OPPOSITION:

'Queen's Printer Produced Socred Pamphlet'

The Opposition Tuesday night accused the B.C. government of having Social Credit Party propaganda produced by the Queen's Printer.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, who has charge of the office, said the Queen's Printer couldn't recall printing a federal election pamphlet.

The Opposition insisted a check be made into the records to prove it.

The government refused.

Cause of the trouble was a reprint of an article in the Financial Times titled "Social Credit Has Stars in Its Eyes on Election Outlook."

When neither side would back down the deadlock was broken with a rare division in estimates debate — with the Socreds defeating Liberals and New Democratic Party-CCF 28 to 16.

The debate took an hour and 10 minutes.

It all came under a $10 estimates vote for the self-supporting provincial print shop. The Opposition asked for the vote to be held over pending the investigation of records.

The NDP-CCF maintained that as the government refused to check the records it was admitting its guilt.

Threatens to Disclose Number

Gordon Dowding (NDP-CCF—Burnaby) who raised the whole issue, threatened to disclose the actual work order number for the pamphlet, to prove it had been handled by the Queen's Printer's office.

He said he would have it later today.

The debate began with Mr. Dowding asking if the Queen's Printer produced anything other than strict government publications.

Mr. Black admitted some work had been done for a Victoria church's 100th anniversary. (It was Metropolitan United, though he didn't name it.)

Then Mr. Dowding produced a photostat of the Financial Times article and passed it over to Mr. Black. The minister said he had no knowledge of it.

Mr. Dowding said he knew 5,000 copies were printed, and later added he believed as many as 25,000 were run off.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said federal Socred pamphlets were the last thing the B.C. taxpayers' money should be spent on.

Last year the government had presented legislation "against union members paying five cents a month to support a political party."

Mr. Black said the Queen's Printer (Bert Sutton) wouldn't know if he printed the article until he saw it.

"Do you mean to tell me the Queen's Printer doesn't know?" asked Mr. Strachan.

"What are you afraid of?" he asked.

Was Originally Reprinted Here?

Mr. Black held a small conference with Mr. Sutton, who always is present at a sitting.

"I'm instructed by the Queen's Printer this is photographed," he said. "He doesn't recall it being done by the Queen's Printer."

Of course it was photographed: it was only a photostat copy, said the opposition members.

They wanted to know if the original had been reprited here.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Esquimalt Socred Herbert Bruch told him the article came from the party's Ottawa offices. Mr. Bruch was distributing them.

Mr. Bruch obliged by sending a copy over to the Opposition.

They were delighted; they hadn't got an original anyway, they disclosed.

Mr Strachan said he insisted on the word of the Queen's Printer on whether or not he printed the article.

"I have never seen these before in my life," said Mr. Black.

"I have asked him if they printed them and he tells me no."

Mr. Strachan said there was evidence the government had used a public office for political propaganda.

"It is not a fact," said Mr. Bonner.

Mr. Strachan called for a check of the records and a lay-over for the Queen's Printer's $10 until the issue was settled.

"This may have been done without the knowledge of the Queen's Printer," said Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

It was an offset lithographed plate and could have been run off "in a lunch hour."

Mr. Dowding demanded a check by the comptroller general under the Audit Act.

"I can supply the comptroller general with the work order number," he said.

"The Queen's Printer said no. If you gentlemen are not prepared to accept his word I am," said Mr. Black.

An Opposition motion to have the vote laid over was ruled out of order.

"We say tonight this piece of printing was printed in the Queen's printshop," said Mr. Strachan.

"Do you deny it was printed in the Queen's printshop?"

"I have given my answer," said Mr. Black.

Death Penalty For 'Pushers' Urged by MLA

Death penalty for drug traffickers was urged in the legislatures Tuesday night by Social Crediter Tom Bate.

The Vancouver-Point Grey MLA's proposal met strong disagreement from Opposition members.

"I don't think there's anything worse than murdering someone's soul through inducing them to take drugs," Mr. Bate said.

"I refute as strongly and emphatically as I can the statement of the member for Point Grey, because this is not the solution," said Tony Gargrave (NDP-CCF—Mackenzie).

Dave Barrett (NDP-CCF—Dewdney) said he regretted there would be headlines in the newspapers saying "MLA says hang pushers."

Fatal Seizure

VANCOUVER (CP) — Wilfred Joseph Bulmer, 65, of Surrey, apparently died of a heart attack just before his car smashed into a concrete retaining wall here Tuesday, police said.

WHY AN INDIAN ACT? SQUIRE ASKS HOUSE

Abolition of the Indian Act was strongly urged in the legislature Tuesday night by Alberni NDP-CCF member John Squire.

"There is no more need for an Indian Act than there is for a Scotsmen's Act, or an Englishmen's Act or an Irishmen's Act," he said.

He called on the B.C. government to do "a little bold thinking."

"It is time we indicated to Ottawa what we think of the Indian Act and what we think they can do with it."

Rights of Indians "should be on the same basis as you or I."

Bids Called Thursday For College Buildings

Tenders for construction of the student union building and the science building to be erected on the Gordon Head campus of Victoria College are expected to be called on Thursday.

University Development Board manager Floyd Fairclough said today students had approved final plans for the $350,000 student union building.

Students raised money toward cost of the building. Final approval is expected to be given by the college council at a meeting on Thursday.

Mr. Fairclough said he expects a call for tenders for the $2,000,000 science building to follow closely and possibly at the same time.

Plans for the science building, drawn up by the architects of the British Columbia department of public works, include a three-storey laboratory wing, a four-storey faculty office and research wing, and an adjoining one-storey lecture building with a folded concrete plate roof.

'JAPAN INTENDS TO MAKE WAR'

Churchill Warned U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten months before Pearl Harbor British Prime Minister Churchill advised President Roosevelt "many drifting straws indicate Japan's intention to make war on us . . . in the next few weeks or months."

Churchill warned that the weight of the Japanese navy, if thrown against Britain, "would confront us with situations beyond the scope of our naval resources."

The prime minister said some believed Japan would not hesitate to attempt to wage war against both Britain and the United States. While he felt the odds were against this, he said, "everything you can do to inspire the Japanese with fear of a double war may avert the danger."

The document was included in the release Tuesday of secret state department diplomatic papers on the Far East for 1941.

The 938-page collection is part of a series on China and the Far East now in preparation, the state department said. A considerable mass of other diplomatic correspondence for 1941 previously had been published.

For months before the Pearl Harbor attack, U.S. diplomats and Allied diplomats in Bangkok, Singapore, the Dutch East Indies and Paris told Washington of the possibility of imminent Japanese attacks in these areas. None mentioned the likelihood of Pearl Harbor being hit.

Smuggling Charged

MARKS 52ND ANNIVERSARY

Builders Sash and Door Opens Ultra-Modern Store

There are few places you can go on Vancouver Island without running into the handiwork of Builders Sash and Door, a firm now celebrating its 52nd anniversary in brand new premises on Burnside Road.

The ultra-modern store at 483 Burnside that displays the quality products of the new factory above and behind it bears litle similarity to the frame shed that started in 1910 as Canadian Western Woodworkers Ltd. but the same workmanship is there.

Already Operating

Formal opening of the new buildings is scheduled for Thursday but already owner Jack Lord and his staff of 32 have been coping with customers old and new while trying to solve the chaos of moving.

At 9.30 a.m. Thursday Trade and Industry Minister Robert Bonner will formally open the new operation and other special events will take place Friday and Saturday.

A pair of nylon stockings will be given away to each of the first hundred ladies in the store and each of the first hundred men will get a carpenter's apron.

Many Door Prizes

Throughout the first three days door prizes donated by wholesalers and other firms will be drawn. Saturday afternoon the grand prize, a kitchen decorated up to the value of $400 will be drawn.

The property was acquired and building started over a year ago but a disastrous fire last year burned down the structure.

Boasting 15,000 square feet of floor area, the factory is estimated to cost between $150,000 and $200,000.

The store, much larger than it predecessor on Garbally Road, has 6,000 square feet of space.

Although the total floor area in both buildings is about the same as the combined factory and store space at the old site efficiency is increased immeasurably because of the latest techniques and machinery.

This, says Mr. Lord, combined with all working area being on one floor, compared to three for the old building, will mean greater savings to the customer through cheaper operating costs.

One of the many "firsts" claimed by the firm is in the construction of the factory where two glue laminate beams measuring 100 feet each were installed. These are believed to be the longest of their type used in local construction.

Quality work by Builders may be found in the Port Hardy Airport terminal, Campbell River Junior-Senior High School, Esquimalt High School, the Tally-Ho Motel and the Ingraham Motel.

3 Brothers Started

In 1910 three brothers named Cousin started Canadian Western Woodworkers Ltd. on Garbally Road south of Gorge Road.

In the tiny plant they turned out joinery work, sash and doors, general mill work and office and house fixtures.

The partners were reduced to two shortly afterward when Charles Cousin went down with the Princess Sophia when she sank in the Lynn Canal.

In 1919 Ned McGillivray formed a company and negotiated a loan which enabled him to buy the firm and carry on operations under the same name.

Business was bad in those days and the company had to start practically from scratch.

Export Trade Gained

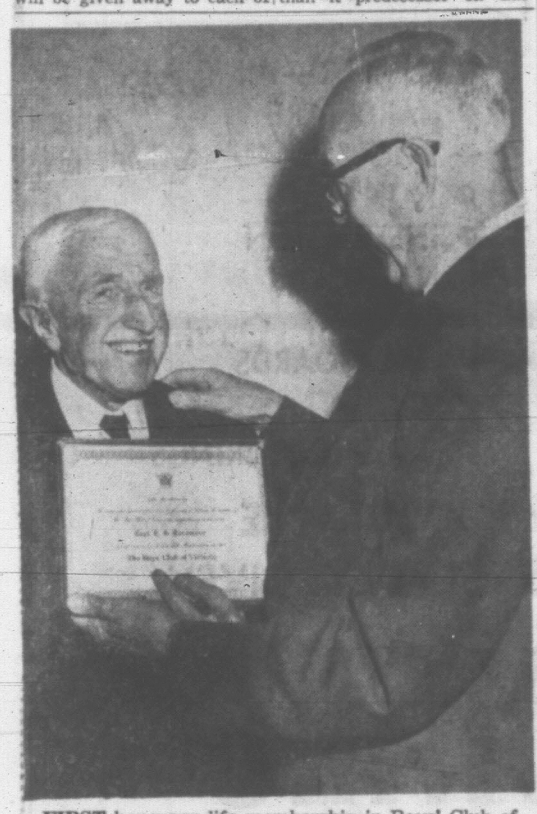

However a fair share of the local trade was garnered and the firm also shipped doors to English and Australian markets in addition to house fittings to Prairie provinces.

In 1925 Robert Hurst joined the company as manager and business continued to improve until 1930 when a fire burned the plant to the ground.

However rebuilding started almost immediately and customers flocked back.

In 1948 the firm was bought by Stewart & Hudson and reorganized as Builders Sash and Door under the management of Jack Lord.

Ten years later Mr. Lord purchased a controlling interest in the firm and, a year later, started plans to move to the present location.

'BUY ADS OUT OF LIQUOR PROFITS'

Alcoholism Fight Urged

"A big advertising program aimed at combatting alcoholism—and paid for out of provincial government liquor profits—was urged in the legislature Tuesday.

"The plan, proposed by Liberal leader Ray Perrault, will be given consideration, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black promised.

He pointed out the government's 1962 grant of $120,000 to the Alcoholism Foundation of B.C. was not much compared with nearly $30,000,000 in clear profit from liquor sales.

A public promotion campaign is needed in newspapers, on the radio and on television, the member told the House.

GOOD WORK

Mr. Black gave credit to the work done by Alcoholic Anonymous, which with the Alcohol Research and Education Council, the government has been trying to join with the Alcohol Foundation.

He said "criticism of insufficient funds for advertising is possibly well taken. The government is trying to view (alcoholism) with perspective and get (a program) on the rails."

LIBRARY MAY OPEN SATURDAYS

"The government is considering opening the Provincial Library to the public on Saturdays, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black said Tuesday.

He was answering Opposition Leader Robert Strachan who told the legislature that the library belongs to the citizens of the province.

"With closure of every government department at five o'clock and all day Saturday, the facilities of the government are not easily accessible to the average worker of the province," said Mr. Strachan.

We have started the ball rolling to see what the costs are going to be and so on," said Mr. Black.

Beauty Show Judges Named

Other judges are Logan Mayhew, Peter Bruton, Mrs. A. E. Walters and Miss Elizabeth Forbes.

Angus to Hear CS Grievances

Dr. Henry Angus, chairman of the B.C. Public Utilities Commision, will be appointed chairman of the civil service board of reference, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black said Tuesday.

He was replying in the legislature to questions by David Barrett (NDP-CCF Dewdney), and Opposition leader Robert Strachan, during debate on the minister's salary.

At the same time, to the question of wether the government intends to release the Carruthers report (on whether civil servants should have bargaining rights), Mr. Black said:

'ANSWER IS NO'

"The answer is the same as last year. The answer is no. Nothing could be clearer than that. You asked me for a frank statement and I'm giving it to you."

Mr. Black said Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, had been considered for the job of board of reference, but he was "taken up with power" and with his consent the government decided that "Dr. Angus will chair this committee."

No other appointments have been made, he said.

STALLING

Mr. Strachan complained of stalling in the interval since the plan was announced—18 months until September, 1961.

"This is efficiency?" he asked. Meanwhile civil service grievances have been "sitting there stewing."

Radio Engineers Meet

The Victoria sub-section of the Institute of Radio Engineers will meet at 8 tonight in the Flame Room of the B.C. Electric building.

D. Clelland of the PGE will speak on "The Statistical Analysis of Tube Performance."

SIT-DOWNER WANTS COMPENSATION

Chat With Premier Fails to Soothe Cariboo Logger

Lionel Carriere says that's how much he lost in wages when a Jan. 6 snowfall cost him his job because he could not get to work. The highways department took 11 days to clear the road to Sharpe Lake village, where he lives.

The 38-year-old faller, his wife and three children took up their posts Tuesday on the legislative steps in a dogged effort to see Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

BRIEF TALK

After winning a few moments with the premier Tuesday night, Mr. Carriere said he still wasn't satisfied and would continue his campaign for compensation.

The family, which includes three boys ranging in age from 21 months to nine years, drove here from Sharpe Lake —125 miles south of Williams Lake—after a mail campaign failed to win satisfaction.

After sitting on the steps most of the day, they were put up at a hotel by the Salvation Army.

PAY EXPENSES

They discussed their problems with South Cariboo MLA William Speare, a government member, who took it up with Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

It was agreed late Tuesday that the social welfare branch would pay expenses to see them home, and suggested to Mr. Carriere that he take a loan on his six head of livestock — horses — back on the homesite.

To meet the claim for back wages would be establishing an unwanted precedent for the government, Mr. Speare explained.

PERSONAL TRY

He said he would personally attempt to get another job for the man.

He said there are 1,900 miles of roads in South Cariboo and because of the unusually heavy snowfall on this occasion — 30 inches in 24 hours — highways department crews were faced with an emergency to even try to keep main and secondary roads plowed.

Carriere said the highways department refused to "do its job."

PULLED OFF JOB

He said he went to district engineer Herb Coupe and was told the plowing job was not economically feasible. The logger said a department "cat" was put on the job just after the snowfall but was pulled off on the engineer's order.

Carriere said the official had since been transferred to Cranbrook and a department of highways spokesman confirmed that another official in the Williams Lake area also had been placed elsewhere.

Mrs. Margaret Carriere, 29, wrote to the premier Jan. 16 and received no reply, she said. Writing again, she finally got a letter from the premier's secretary dated Jan. 31, which said the road was to be cleared that day, three weeks after the storm.

NO CHARITY

"We don't want charity," she said, "but we want some compensation.

"My husband had a steady, paying job. Now, because the department wouldn't dig us out, he's out of work and work is hard to get."

Mrs. Carriere said she was heartened by a short chat with the premier as he left the Legislative Buildings for supper. She said she had faith in the word of a "prime minister."

"The storm caught us all by surprise Jan. 6. The nearest store is 20 miles away and there are no telephones there.

WALKED FIVE MILES

"I had to walk out five miles in 30 inches of snow to get some flour which we shared among the families," he said.

The Carrieres were not the only ones to complain. About six other residents wrote letters of protest to the government, Mr. Speare said.

He said it appeared the small logger for whom the man worked could not afford relief employees and when Carriere failed to show up the job was contracted to another man.

Because of the season, work is scarce in the district and because of the nature of his occupation, Carriere did not qualify for unemployment insurance.

He also fails to qualify for relief because he owns assets —the horses, a house, truck and chain saw—which he refused to sell.

Canada-U.S. Team Tops Bridge Event

Canadian and United States card experts teamed up to win the top-ranked open pairs championship in the weekend American Contract Bridge sectional tournament at the Empress Hotel.

Norman Turnbull of Vancouver and Gard Hays of Spokane, won the sixth annual tournament which attracted 400 players from Vancouver Island, B.C., and northwest United States.

Although there are five championship events most points are awarded to winners of the open event.

Two young Victoria College students, Ian Smith and J. McLaren won the men's pairs and the local team of Phil Hagel, Velma Acres, Eric Goodwin and Jim Duprau won the team of four event.

Tony Marsh of Victoria, and Edith Bonnell of Vancouver, combined to repeat their mixed pairs win of last year and two women, Mrs. R. Moorhead and Mrs. H. Fromm of Bellevue, Wash., won the women's pairs.

The sectional event is held here at the same time every year but the local organization hopes to attract the regional fixture to Victoria next year.

Famed Bandleader Dies Aged 69

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Jean Goldkette, 69, band leader prominent in the 1920s and '30s, died Saturday of a heart attack.

Stars who once worked for Goldkette included Bix Beiderbecke, Glen Miller, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Glen Gray, Joe Venuti, Eddie Lang, Jimmy McPartland, Frankie Trumbauer and Hoagy Carmichael.

ORANGE GLOW of a "candle flame" flickered from the top of the Rockland water tower Tuesday night in a lighting test. The neon "flame" was a centennial gift from the industry and city set up floodlights to turn the 139-foot tower into a nighttime "candle" as centennial decoration. Floodlights at Craigdarroch Castle were tested at the same time. Official "switch on" will be held April 2.

tion charges the letters were written by Mr. Campbell, protests against a personal attack on Mr. Barrett, and government counter-charges of Opposition obstruction, the premier suddenly called it off.

He interrupted Mr. Strachan to "just let me say something" and called for adjournment.

Mr. Strachan said he was taking advantage of his position of premier.

More Coming

But he promised the Opposition will "let go" at Welfare Minister Wesley Black again today.

The rough-and-tumble began after Mr. Barrett's opening speech on welfare, calling for a number of policy changes:

Abolition of the 10 per cent municipal contribution to welfare costs;

A province-wide standard welfare program;

An investigation of social assistance payments;

A full-time minister (Mr. Black is also provincial secretary and municipal affairs minister).

Mr. Bennett suggested the government cut down use of Willingdon and spend money instead on community probation officers who would place delinquent girls in local care.

Mr. Campbell accused Mr. Barrett of delivering "a lecture."

He said the effects of such speeches were: to create scary headlines, to upset people in institutions criticized and their relatives, too.

He read headlines which appeared after Mr. Barrett's earlier speech on Willingdon saying the girls there became prostitutes and addicts.

Then he began to read the letters.

A Prince Rupert Indian girl wrote: "How can a young man say such things? Is he accusing us of being criminal? If it was true the school would have been closed down long ago. The school is very nice; it sure changes a girl's attitude."

Tony Gargrave (NDP-CCF—Mackenzie) interrupted: "Apparently this character assassination has been carefully prepared."

He insisted on knowing to whom the letters were addressed.

Mr. Campbell said it was Mr. Robinson (who slept through most of the earlier evening debate).

He read some morer quotes, each one interrupted by cries of "shame" and protest from the Opposition.

Some of the letters said:

"I knew just as much when I came in here as I do now. The only difference is I made up my mind to improve." . . .

"Idiotic things." . . .

"We're not prostitutes and drug addicts."

Leo Nimsick (NDP-CCF—Cranbrook) cried out: "It sounds like a made-up story—they could be made up."

"We're not all he said we were" . . .

"Does he not realize we are human like himself?" . . .

"It is a very nice school."

Liberal leader Ray Perrault accused the government of "dishonest tactics" and was ordered to withdraw the statement.

"I'll withdrwaw—but it's an absolute farce," he shouted.

Mr. Campbell offered to show the originals to the Opposition in the corridors.

'We Get Letters'

Mr. Strachan replied:

"Members on this side of the House also have had letters—voluntary letters—from people who have been in the school and are now in the school.

"And we didn't make anybody write them or put them up to write them."

He wanted to know how many other letters the government had received when Social Crediter Bert Price of Vancouver-Burrard said the girls in Willingdon "weren't worth a plugged nickel."

Amid a new outburst from all sides of the House, the premier got up.

He had twice earlier refused to adjourn the House at the Opposition's request.

"May I just say something?" he asked. Mr. Strachan sat down.

"It's clear the Opposition don't want to discuss the position of the country," he said.

He withdrew the social welware salary vote for Mr. Black and called adjournment until this afternoon.

"He took advantage of his position as premier. He interrupted my speech," protested Mr. Strachan.

And that was it until this afternoon.

with a proposal that it be opened to all European countries.

But Dean said he did not think at first reading that the new Rapacki plan was significantly different from previous proposals of this kind.

Rapacki spoke after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin raised procedural difficulties about discussing a Canadian plan to limit the use of outer space to peaceful purposes.

Conference sources said the conference co - chairman, the U.S. and Russia, would meet privately to discuss Zorin's objections and report to the conference.

MONTE ROBERTS

You may remember a news item, a week or so ago, about double parking.

This news item said double parking for ordinary motorists was punishable by fine, imprisonment, or exile, or all three.

But double parking by commercial vehicles, such as delivery trucks, while not exactly legal, was usually not noticed by the police, who happen to look the other way when they fail to see a truck double parked.

Since reading this news item, this double standard of double parking has been bothering me, off and on.

Is this a good thing or a bad thing? I kept wondering. It is something like the feeling I get when I see a bus stopping in a bus zone.

But is it also clearly violating the law, because it stops at a sign which states, in large, readable letters, "NO STOPPING."

In the case of a bus stopping at a no-stopping sign, the law must be looking the other way, as in the case of a truck double parking.

* * *

After brooding about this situation, I have sort of come to the conclusion the double standard is, by and large, a pretty good thing, and possibly should be extended.

For instance, the yellow lines painted on curbs to discourage vehicles from parking there.

Applying the double standard of traffic enforcement, the law would look the other way if the vehicle so parked was of the proper shade of yellow to match the curb.

Or, as in the case of a certain small automobile I know, a snappy black to make an attractive contrast to the yellow curb.

Then, of course, there might well be a double standard employed at intersections where U-turns are prohibited.

This rule would be strictly enforced in all cases, except when the motorist in question can prove his compass was faulty.

But I think the best application of the double standard concerns the rule which says a motorist has to drive on the right hand side of the road.

Three to Run In Esquimalt Byelection

Three candidates have filed papers for the April 7 Esquimalt municipal byelection.

Nominations closed at noon today.

Contesting the council seat vacated by Vincent Rush will be Walter Holder, Walter Lock and Donald Douglas.

Mr. Holder, 1011 Colville, was narrowly defeated in the December election by councillor Bert Nelson after two recounts.

VETERAN COUNCILLOR

A past member of the Esquimalt council for 11 years, Mr. Holder has served on all committees of the seven-man group.

Walter Lock, 939 Esquimalt Road, has been a meat merchant in the municipality since 1947, taking over the family business started in 1910.

FORMER COMMISSIONER

Mr. Douglas is serving his 16th term as secretary-treasurer of the shipwrights' union.

GOOD FATHER GIVEN CHANCE BY COURT

The report stated James E. Cousins, 2 Maple Avenue, Sooke, had raised his two children in a model manner, and he had never been in trouble before.

He was found guilty of breaking and entering the Gorge Road B-A Station two months ago. He had been drinking at the time.

Tonic-Loaded David Walked Slept It Off

Three-year-old David Hrechka was reported fully recovered today from the effects of swallowing a two-weeks' supply of his older sister's nerve tonic.

St. Joseph's Hospital said a long walk and a good sleep had countered the effects of the medicine.

POLICE SEARCH

On returning from school, sister Gloria found the medicine bottle empty and their mother, Mrs. Ethel Hrechka, put in a frantic call to police, who statred the search fearing that the dose he had taken might be fatal.

The brothers were found later in the afternoon at Yates and Douglas. David had fallen into a deep sleep in a shopping cart pushed by George. He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, where doctors found that the effects of the nerve tonic had worn off.

Pioneer Of Saanich Dead at 79

His father, Louis, came to B.C. as a boy and was proprietor of the Royal Oak Inn. His mother, Janie Cheesman, was the daughter of one of the first settlers in Saanich.

Born in Victoria in 1884, Mr. Duval was the first child to be christened at St. Michael's and All Angels Church. He will be buried there on Friday.

He leaves the widow, Mabel, living at home, 4043 West Saanich Road, and a daughter, Mrs. Fawcett Tyler in Victoria. He is survived also by two other sons, Lt.-Cmdr. Neil in Ottawa, and Roy serving with the RCAF in Trenton, Ontario.

Funeral services will be conducted on Friday at 1.30 p.m. in McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel, Canon J. Rogers officiating. Interment in St. Michael's and All Angels churchyard will follow.

MISS E. PEMBERTON

FAMED FAMILY

First RN In Canada 95 Saturday

DAILY WALK

"She goes for a walk in the grounds every day and is always offering to help us," said Mrs. Elsie Poulsen, matron. "She reads and listens to the radio but doesn't like TV. It's too noisy," she says.

Miss Pemberton was born in the old Pemberton family home on Fairfield, on March 31, 1867. Her father, Hon. Augustus John Pemberton, was a leading figure in the city's early history.

PLANS PARTY

She devoted her working life to nursing and took up her first hospital appointment at Halifax, N.S., nearly 70 years ago.

Having no surviving relatives, Miss Pemberton will give a party for a few friends on Saturday and the hospital will provide a full-size birthday cake with all the trimmings.

Estimates Chopped $350,000

City council will begin its final budget drive late in April facing an increase of approximately $550,000 in expenditures which could boost last year's tax rate by almost six mills.

Committees have chopped almost $350,000 off the initial expenditure estimates which had been $901,000 higher than last year. In addition, a drop in the assessment roll will add between $25,000 and $129,000 to the burden.

MONEY BYLAW

Led by Mayor R. B. Wilson, a majority of council is expected to pull several capital projects out of the budget at the council level next month and present them to the voters in a money bylaw.

Mayor Wilson told a committee Tuesday that borrowing would enable the city to carry out needed projects while keeping the mill rate at a manageable level "and still reducing our total debt which is being repaid at the rate of $640,000 at present."

Fire wardens committee this morning set aside a proposed new $70,000 firehall at John and Turner for financing out of tax sale lands fund or borrowing.

It added $15,000 towards a fund started last year to replace a 33-year-old pumper truck still in service.

WELFARE DOWN

Committee also was told that the city's welfare program will drop by $9,865 this year to a total of $277,545. Health costs also will be cut back $5,500 to a net $58,531 by last September's creation of a metro health board.

Tuesday, the parks and public works sections worked straight through seven and a half hours, eating sandwiches in their seats for supper, to complete their estimates.

RECOMMENDED

Aldermen in these sections lopped off large amounts in the proposed expenditures but still recommended that the city:

Install new mercury lights on Cook, between Pandora and Dallas; on Douglas, between the Roundabout and Tolmie; on Burnside, between Douglas and Harriet; on Pandora, between Quadra and Cook; on Yates, between Cook and Fort;

38-Voice U.S. Choir Warmly Applauded

The A Cappella Choir of the University of the Pacific, Stockton, was making its first appearance in Canada. Judging from the reception, it won't be the last.

VICTORIAN

The group was brought to Victoria by a group of citizens and the Camosun Gyro Club.

TRAFFIC FINES

Dennis Davey, 1258 Bay, illegal turn, $10.

Norlene McCann, 2086 Brighton, careless driving, $40.

Douglas Gottred, 1607 Belmont, minor no insurance, $25, stop sign, $15.

50 Exhibits At Lansdowne Science Fair

Victoria College, the Pacific Naval Laboratory, and the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory will provide judges for a science fair to be held at Lansdowne Junior High School on Friday at 8 p.m.

Fifty exhibits built by students of grades seven, eight and nine will be on display in competition for a first prize of $10, a second prize of $5 and a third prize of $3.

Included in the "school-and-home-made" projects will be a water purifier, a three-stage rocket and an electronic scoreboard.

Oak Bay and Colquitz Junior High Schools already have had their science fairs, and the possibility of holding a combined exhibition of the best projects is being discussed.

A science fair was held in Victoria for the first time last year at Lansdowne Junior High School. Local science teachers consider such a fair valuable in stimulating the interest of pupils in science.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

E. A. McFayden said the association's traditional Miss Victoria should be enough.

He said Miss Victoria is the official representative of the city and competes for the Miss PNE, Miss Canada and even Miss America titles.

A British colonial administrator for nearly 40 years, Sir James has engaged in the preparing for self-government in the Sudan, British Guiana and Nigeria.

Born in Scotland, he served with the Black Watch during the First World War and graduated from Balliol College, Oxford, where he is an honorary fellow.

By a 3-2 vote Tuesday night, Oak Bay zoning committee decided to recommend that a lot adjoining Victoria College campus area should be zoned as residential.

The lot fronts on Cedar Hill Cross Road, opposite Gordon Head Road. It had previously been recommended by the committee for high-rise apartment zoning.

After a public hearing on March 5 when the high-rise proposal was protested, council referred the matter back to the committee.

Trial of two men accused of breaking and entering will commence in city police court April 5.

The offence is alleged to have taken place Tuesday night.

When the charge was first read for election in court Graham said: "I thought we were going to be arrested for being drunk."

Visit Cancelled For Dutch Ships

Cancellation of the visit to Esquimalt of two Dutch warships was confirmed today by the RCN Pacific Command.

The two destroyer escorts, Hr. Ms. Groningen and Hr. Ms. Limburg, were to have docked at 9.30 a.m. Saturday for a week's visit.

It is presumed the two ships which left San Diego Friday have been diverted to West New Guinea, where the Dutch government, involved in a dispute with Indonesia over the Dutch colony, is reinforcing the area after conciliation talks failed in Washington last week.

Gov't Reneged On Aid Pledge Says Grower

The B.C. government has reneged on its promise of financial assistance for construction of cold storage facilities for the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, according to T. G. Michell, president.

Speaking at an annual meeting of the association Monday, Mr. Michell said the association fully expected the B.C. government to make a grant towards the project.

He said George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, managed to obtain a federal grant for this purpose and the association expected the provincial government to do the same.

Manager Herbert Bickford said if the provincial government had made the grant as promised, the cold storage facilities would have been ready to handle this year's crop.

He said the lack of cold storage facilities is detrimental to the marketing of small fruit crops which provides a livelihood for several hundred farmers on the Island.

Ocean Research Centre Likely for College

A multi-million-dollar centre for oceanographic research is likely to be built by the federal government on the Gordon Head campus of Victoria College in about three years.

The University Development Board has followed up the suggestion from Ottawa for establishment of the centre on the campus with an offer of a three-acre site for the laboratories.

Officials of the Department of Mines have already held discussions with the college and are now conducting a full-scale survey of the campus site.

The centre would serve the whole Pacific coast and would match one at New Bedford in Halifax, costing $4,500,000, to be opened this spring.

The institute would have a staff of 225, including 75 scientists, and would have its own vessel berthed in the Victoria harbor.

College spokesmen welcomed the Ottawa offer as "a shot in the arm" to the drive for university funds. The fund is still short $400,000.

If the Pacific institute is established on the campus, the federal government would provide all facilities.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Can you tell me how, under the Hospital Co-Insurance Act, the Royal Jubilee Hospital can demand private and semi-private rates of $8 and $4 a day from patients requiring a few days' stay? This is when a request for a bed has been in for weeks. P.G.

A. It is often the case that the $1 public warrant beds are filled being given priority for emergency cases for which beds are always available.

Q. Could you please tell me if there is a message in Morse Code on a Canadian 1944 five-cent piece, and if so what does it say? W.J.M.

A. The message reads, "We win when we work willingly."

Improve Working Habits With New Study Stand

By PENNY SAVER

For the student—young or old—in your family, there's nothing worse than poor study habits. In most cases a student with bad habits is simply wasting his time.

Study stand I've seen will prove invaluable for anyone planning to do a lot of book work. It holds reference material open at the page you want and at the correct angle.

When not in use the stand folds flat and is portable. It will fit easily into a brief case, notebook or desk drawer.

It saves study time, desk space and reduces eyestrain. You could even use it to hold your cookbook, Mother.

Book caddy is another invaluable item. It can be used for holding books, catalogues, dictionaries, phone books and magazines. Makes a good record caddy too. It will hold 75 records, even long-plays.

Self-locking adjustable ends won't slip and it will fold flat for storage.

It has mar-proof rubber-tipped legs and is reinforced at the centre so it won't sag. How much is it? Only $2.75.

Another handy item, when it comes to pasting and glueing, is a paste pen.

It works on the principle of a ball point pen. Press lightly and the retractable ball will allow just the right amount of paste out. One pen will produce 5,000 paste dots without refilling and it dries in seconds. This pen sells for a mere 98 cents.

Refill paste is available for 70 cents and one bottle will refill the pen five times.

Want to know where these items are being sold? Call me for the store. Penny, EV 2-3131.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"I promised to love, cherish and protect you . . . Where does dishwashing come into it?"

TODAY'S RECIPE

SHRIMP AND MUSHROOM PIE

One and one-half pounds cooked shrimp, 1 pound mushrooms, ¼ cup butter, 3 tbsps. finely chopped onion, ¼ cup flour, 1 chicken bouillon cube, ¾ cup boiling water, ¾ cup warm cream or top milk, ½ tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper, 2 tbsps. sherry, pastry for 1-crust pie.

Drain shrimp thoroughly and cut in two if large. Wash and slice mushrooms; drain well. Melt butter in a large skillet; add mushrooms and simmer for 5 minutes. Add onion. Sift flour over all, stir lightly, and cook 5 minutes longer. Dissolve chicken bouillon cubes in boiling water. Blend with warm cream or top milk and carefully stir into mushrooms. Add salt and pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until sauce has thickened.

Add shrimps and sherry. Pour into a 6-cup casserole or deep-pie dish. Cover with thick pastry; slash top. Decorate with pastry cutouts of shrimps and mushrooms if desired. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) until pastry is golden brown, (25 to 35 minutes). Makes five to six servings.

Fellow staff members of the groom at CHEK television station were hosts at a stag party in the Cadboro Bay Road home of George Wright. A grocery shower was the highlight.

Carnation corsages were presented to the bride, her mother, Mrs. John Fawcett and groom's mother, Mrs. Ted Brooke when Miss Fern Sammon entertained in the Fernhill Road home of her parents, Coun. and Mrs. Gerald Sammon. Gifts were presented in a dainty pink basket.

Mrs. Fawcett hosted a trousseau tea at Garden Park Court when guests included Mrs. Ted Brooke, Mrs. William Blair, Mrs. George Campion, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mrs. J. Allison, Mrs. D. W. WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's Time to Give Hubby His Spring Going Over

That first feeling of spring, that certain softness in the air which we cannot describe, the first bud on a tree or the first flower which thrusts its head above the earth, activates a woman like a tune-up job does an engine.

Lowman

This is a time for re-doing. The closets are cleaned out, the windows washed, the porch furniture glamorized for its eventual appearance with the same care with which a bride is beautified for her wedding.

The little lady not only gives the house a going over, but also herself, and sometimes she even casts a calculating eye at her husband. This is a romantic season—and why be a Juliet if you do not have a Romeo?

Most men pay little attention to the details of their dress, for instance, their collars. I have always thought that a collar has quite an influence on a man's appearance. It often looks as though it is going to hang him, choke him or swallow him.

Having in mind that you may have some plans for reconditioning your husband a bit and that he may be glad of the help, I've investigated this problem and am passing some tips on to you and your husband today.

Men with a short or wide neck do not look well in a collar which gives them a pinched or choked up look. Pointed collars are more flattering.

The majority of men usually are most flattered by collars with medium spreads, button-downs or tabs and short to regular lengths.

The style suit your man wears governs collar selection to a certain extent. Button-downs, tabs and moderate spread collars are most appropriate with natural shoulder suits. The more tailored-looking the suit the more one should consider wider spread collars, along with tab types.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Roll With the Punches, Gal!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How can you tell a mother her faults? She complains that she is "lonely," but she brings so much of it on herself with her fussy ways. She is a nut on housekeeping. When she's expecting guests for dinner, she even cleans out her garage!

Even worse, regardless of whose house she's in, she scours "spots" from the stove, bleaches the sink, wipes finger marks from the walls and scrubs around the faucets. She thinks she's being helpful when she "rearranges" your cupboards, not realizing she makes you feel like a poor housekeeper. She points out little things like, "The children's shoe laces need washing," and "your towels look faded." We love Mom, but we (her married daughters) are nervous wrecks after each visit. Print this Abby. It might help.

EXHAUSTED

DEAR EXHAUSTED: Your mother's "fussiness" is probably due to an excess of nervous energy. You'll never change her, so learn to roll with the punches. Go about your business and let her scour, scrub and "rearrange." She loves it!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband's hair is thin and he says his ears get cold at night. He wants to wear a night cap and I don't like the idea. Do men wear them now or not?

MARRIED 44 YEARS

DEAR MARRIED: Night caps are still very popular (both to drink and to wear) and I am told they still sell quite a few.

★ ★ ★

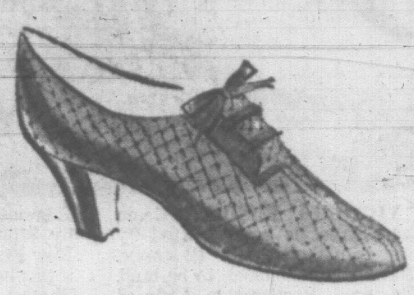

CONFIDENTIAL TO B. J: No one would think of holding a delirious pneumonia patient responsible for his actions. Why should a manic depressive be blamed for what he does because his illness has lodged in his mind instead of his lungs?

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Two Brothers Far From Home Country

By JOY POLLARD

"Everything!" was Gavin Fraser's reply when asked what he liked best about boarding school in Canada.

"I like Saturday. We don't have to work then."

Neil and Gavin were both born in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and have spent most of their school life there.

Neil travelled across Canade before he came to Victoria, and when asked his impression of this country he said he found it very beautiful, but modified, "kind of cold, though."

"I left home first," Neil tells you. "I wasn't applying myself in school so my father gave me a chance to be on my own and prove myself, by sending me away to school."

Gavin flew straight to Victoria and likes it here "so far." He arrived shortly after Christmas, and explains:

CHOSE CANADA

"I had the chance of either going to England or coming here, so I chose Victoria because Neil is here."

The boys' father, Mr. Ian Fraser, was sent from Argentina to England to study when a boy and studied under Mr. J. J. Timmis, who is now head master at University School.

Mr. Fraser is manager of the Orange Crush Company in Argentina and the boys' grandfather, Mr. Archibald Fraser, is president.

Future plans of these lads are not too definite. Neil would like to go into his father's business and Gavin just can't decide.

"We didn't have too much trouble with the language when we came here," Neil reports in almost flawless English, "because at home, even though our country is mainly Spanish speaking, we speak English all the time. Except when we're addressing the servants in the house."

"We had trouble with 'slang'," countered Gavin with a grin. "It didn't take long for us to catch on, though."

When questioned about the servants, the older brother explained that in Argentina there is quite a class separation.

"It isn't like here where almost everyone is middle class with very few wealthy and very few extremely poor. In Argentina one is, in most cases, very rich or very poor.

COST LITTLE

"Servants are easy to get there, and consequently they don't cost much. We have a cook, three maids and a gardener at home."

"Yes," Gavin adds impishly, "we don't have to do anything for ourselves."

Both found a few differences when they came to Canada—food and clothes mainly.

Neil thinks "food is basically the same but it's prepared differently and looks different when put on the table. Cuts of meat are different, too."

"I've noticed that people don't eat as much meat here," Gavin said, "and I found it hard to get used to being served just a small portion—but the food at the school is good."

Answering a question on his opinion of Canadian girls, Gavin shrugged. "I don't know," he said. "I don't think I like girls at all, yet."

Asked what's the first thing they're going to do when they go home this summer, Gavin firmly states, "I'm going to unpack and just have fun."

Neil won't be going home. "I'm going to Europe on a tour with about 10 other boys from the school."

Both are planning to have a good time and will be back in the fall, ready to settle down to books again.

Patricia Kendrew Married in Recent Sooke Ceremony

Spring flowers, cherry blossom and daffodils decorated Knox Presbyterian Church at Sooke when Miss Patricia Ann Kendrew exchanged vows with David Keelinge Homer. Rev. A. Beaton officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Kendrew of Sooke, while the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Homer, also of Sooke.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride was lovely in a white velvet gown in ballerina length that had a lace overskirt as highlight. Shoulder length veil misted from a flowered headdress. Shamrocks complemented the red roses in her shower bouquet. Only jewelry was a pearl pendant and matching earrings, both set in a gold star setting and gift of the groom.

Ballerina length gowns in apple green chromespun taffeta were chosen by maid of honor, Miss Marilyn Yost, and bridesmaid, Miss Mary Ann Hiscock. Both had bouquets of tiny sweetheart roses.

Puritan collar and full skirt were featured on the apple green taffeta frock worn by junior bridesmaid, Jennifer Waters, cousin of the bride. She carried a colonial bouquet to match those of the senior attendants.

John K. Homer was best man and ushers were Scott Kendrew and Bill Pednault.

Mrs. H. Yost and Mrs. K. Shepherd sang "I'll Walk Beside You" during the ceremony. Organist was M. P. Gibson.

C. H. Radford proposed the toast to the bride at a reception held in The Grouse Nest. Spring flowers decorated the rooms.

Three-tier wedding cake, made by the groom's mother, was topped with a silver sailboat, set in red roses and narcissi.

Stars' Wives Don't Talk 'Shop'

MONTREAL (CP) — When the wife of an all-time hockey great writes to the wife of another all-time hockey great, what does she write about?

If you think she writes about hockey, you're way off the goal, at least where Mrs. Bernie Geoffrion and Mrs. Gordie Howe are concerned.

Mrs. Geoffrion, wife of Boom Boom Geoffrion, all-star right winger with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, said in an interview that in correspondence between herself and Mrs. Howe, wife of the famous Detroit right winger, hockey is rarely mentioned.

The two are long-time friends.

"We write to each other two or three times a month but we seldom talk hockey," said Mrs. Geoffrion, not only the wife of a hockey star but the daughter of one too.

Born Marlene MacKay Morenz, she is the daughter of the late Howie Morenze, an NHL super star long before Boom Boom was born.

Mrs. Geoffrion herself gained a certain amount of fame as a Canadian junior figure skating champion.

Mrs. Geoffrion will be remaining at home when Canadiens take to the road in the current Stanley Cup playoffs against Chicago. But once the playoffs are over, the Geoffrions plan to take advantage of the children's Easter school holidays to take a trip to Florida.

"The series against Chicago will be hard and the Canadiens will need between five and seven games to win," Mrs. Geoffrion said.

"Then we'll play against the Rangers. Doug Harvey's team will beat the Toronto Maple Leafs in the semifinals."

"This will be a good series for Canadiens, and once again we'll win the Stanley Cup."

Tips for Overseas Trips

In addition to quoting one night and weekly rates, it indicates availability of private bathrooms and elevators, central heating, air conditioning, dining facilities, garage space, languages spoken and historical significances.

Distinguished French-Canadian Will Speak Here on Tuesday

Mme. Pierre Casgrain, OBE, will be guest speaker at meeting of the Women's Canadian Club to be held in the Empress Hotel next Tuesday at 2.30 p.m. She will speak on "Some Recent Changes In Quebec."

An ardent worker for women's rights, Therese Casgrain successfully led the fight to obtain women's suffrage in her native province of Quebec and spearheaded the drive that led to the admittance of women to the Quebec bar.

Some of her varied duties have seen her serving on the Minimum Wage Board for the eastern province, the National Health Council, and assuming directorship on the Canadian Welfare Council and the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

Mme. Casgrain is presently one of the national vice-chairmen of the CCF and a member of the New Democratic Party Committee.

At one time Mme. Casgrain was Speaker of the House of Commons and Secretary of State.

A skilled orator, she has spoken to many Canadian Clubs, both on the prairies and in Ontario.

Founder of the French Junior League, she was awarded the OBE during the Second World War for her part in organizing the Women's Consumers' Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trades Board.

Dainty Organza Wedding Gown Chosen by Helaine Burgess

White nylon organza posed over white satin formed the ballerina-length gown chosen by Miss Helaine Charlotte Burgess for her recent marriage to Kenneth Donald Charters in St. John's Anglican Church at Colwood. Gown featured a scoop neckline and sleeves in three-quarter length. A large white flower held the veil of nylon net. Pink rosebuds and white carnations were in the cascade bouquet.

Parents of the principals are Mrs. L. G. Alexander of Colwood and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Charters of Glen Lake. Mrs. Alexander gave her daughter in marriage. Rev. D. A. Hatfield officiated.

Maid of honor Miss Roberta Speers chose a gown of shell pink lace over pink satin with toning flowered hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Both the bride and her attendant had crystal necklaces as jewelry.

Bruce Charters was best man for his brother and the ushers were Edward Laird and Keith Brahame.

Over 100 guests attended the reception which followed in the Chez Marcel. Denis Beaulac proposed a toast to the bride.

Among out-of-town guests were Charles E. Burgess, Vancouver, father of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Holman of Youbou, B.C.

Newlyweds will make their home on Anchorage Road.

Add an Egg

When you add an extra egg to your cooking, you are adding a dividend of good nutrition. It gives a bonus of valuable protein, vitamins and minerals plus good flavor.

The Poultry Products Institute says they offer no apology for suggesting adding an extra egg to your cooking and here are a few ways it may be done:

To get a smooth rich texture in cream sauce to be used on cooked vegetables, add an egg.

To help keep the meat loaf from crumbling when it is sliced, add an egg to the meat mixture.

To round out the flavor of the sauce for chicken or turkey a la king, add an egg.

To produce a tasty topping for a fruit cobbler add an egg plus a tablespoon or so of sugar to tea biscuit dough before adding liquid.

To round out the amount of protein, add a sliced hard-cooked egg for each two servings of macaroni and cheese.

NO DISTINCTION BY H-BOMB

'Created, Cremated Equal'

Vancouver Island is not "an island unto itself" in the question of nuclear peace or war, according to the national vice chairman of the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament.

Rabbi Abraham Feinberg, who is also chairman of the Toronto Committee for Survival, was speaking on Tuesday night to a meeting of about 200 at Holyrood House sponsored by the Victoria and District Radiation Hazards Committee.

Peace and disarmament, said Rabbi Feinberg, are everyone's business.

"CREMATED EQUAL"

"The H-bomb makes no distinction between white, black, or yellow," he said. "Just as we were created equal, so will we be cremated equal."

He deplored the fact disarmament had become a "dirty word" through its being widely used by Khrushchev.

As things stand today, he said, "if I want peace, I cannot be a patriot."

Rabbi Feinberg said that in Toronto he had made peace practically respectable, or "Kosher." He urged Victorians to do likewise.

DO MORE

He also said that Khrushchev did not want war and neither did the Russians as a whole. But he did not think that the west is doing all it can to ensure peace.

TOM UPHILL PORTRAIT SHOWN TO LEGISLATURE

"It is an amazing likeness," he told the House, and everyone agreed.

Mr. Black arranged to have the portrait hang in the display corridor of the Provincial Library for the rest of the session.

It then will be decided where to hang it permanently.

Mr. Uphill, 84, died in February. He was Independent MLA for Fernie 41 years until he quit in 1960.

Duo Piano Team Provides Artistry and Excitement

By PETER MATTHEWS

On Tuesday night at Victoria High School duo pianists Robin Wood and his wife, Winifred Scott presented a program from the standard two piano repertoire in a most artistic and, at times, exciting performance.

They were sponsored by the Victoria Musical Art Society which was responsible in a large part for starting Mr. Wood on his successful studies abroad.

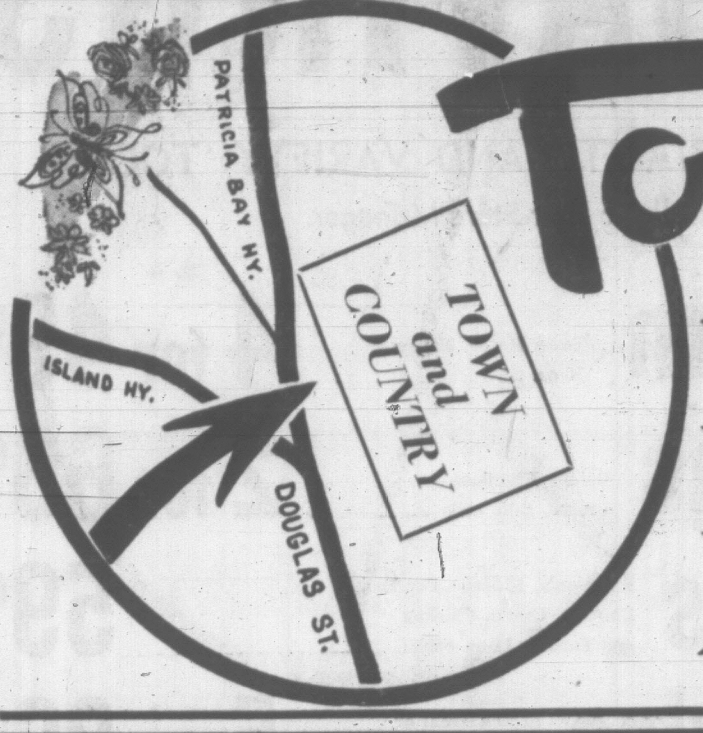

The Brahms F minor sonata opened the program and proved to be the highlight of the evening. Here was all the moodiness, and abrupt changes in dynamics, so characteristic of Brahms.

The artists gave an extremely fine delineation of main themes, with delightful attention to the obscure nuances, as well as unshakeable rhythmic stability which welded the whole into a truly architectural unit.

The second half of the program included the Schumann Andante and Variations, Borodin Nocturne and the engagingly witty Sonata by the contemporary composer Poulenc.

In response to the enthusiastic applause, the appreciative audience was rewarded with two encores, Canon by Arensky and a Prokofiev March.

PROTECTION HAILED

Magazine Outlook 'Much Healthier'

The outlook for Canadian magazines is now much "healthier" than it has been for some years past, F. G. Brander, publisher of Maclean's Magazine, Toronto, said in an interview here Tuesday.

Mr. Brander said Prime Minister Diefenbaker's declaration that his government will implement recommendations brought down last June by the Royal Commission on publications has given considerable stimulus to Canadian magazine publishers.

"It is very encouraging so far as existing magazines are concerned, and it leads us to hope that new publications will come into being as a result."

MISCONCEPTIONS

Mr Brander said, however, that the commission's recommendations have led to some misconceptions.

"They do not mean there is any threat to the freedom of the press, or that Canadians will not receive any magazine they wish from any part of the world.

"What they do mean is that it will be impractical for foreign publications to operate Canadian editions with an unfair advantage over all-Canadian publications."

By means of Canadian editions, he said, foreign magazines can offer bargain rates to advertisers and still enjoy a great cost advantage.

The reason for this is that the Canadian editions publish reading material obtained from the parent U.S. companies at a "purely nominal cost," whereas Canadian magazines must pay well for the writers, artists, photographers and editors they hire for an all-Canadian effort.

"A continuation of this situation would mean that soon this country would have no national magazines of its own," he said.

PROTECTION

"We have no desire to keep foreign or American magazines out of Canada. But we must protect ourselves from unfair competition from outside."

Mr. Brander revealed that Maclean's Magazine now has a national circulation of around 535,000 copies. It also sells about 25,000 in the United Kingdom and 25,000 in the United States.

"We are well recognized in these countries," he said.

COMPLETE NEW HEART 'POSSIBLE'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Surgeons will be able to replace defective hearts with complete artificial hearts in a few more years, a surgeon predicts.

"It's a lot closer than you think," Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel of Washington told a sectional meeting of the American College of Surgeons Tuesday.

PLEA TO UPHOLD EICHMANN DEATH PENALTY

'Lust for Extermination'

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Attorney-General Gideon Hausner today made an impassioned plea to the Supreme Court to uphold the death sentence against Adolf Eichmann for the Nazi murder of 6,000,000 Jews.

"The only thing he regrets is that he did not exterminate all the Jews," Hausner declared as he wound up his argument against Eichmann's appeal from the death verdict handed down last December.

"Don't look at him as the contrite character he now is. He is the man who once held sway over the entire face of Europe in his job of hounding out and collecting Jews from all corners, pulling all the strings and sending millions to extermination camps.

"One signature sealed the fate of thousands . . . and kept death factories working day and night. . . . He acted with zeal . . . out of a thirst and lust for extermination."

Reds Shell Quemoy

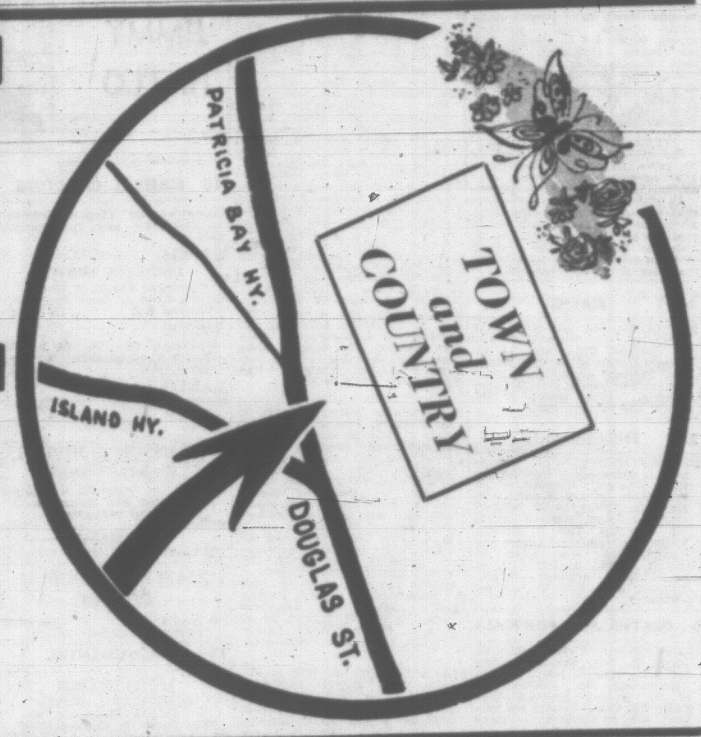

TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters) —Chinese Communists lobbed 99 shells against the nationalist-defended Quemoy island group in three hours Tuesday night, the defence ministry announced today. Most of the shells were believed to contain only propaganda leaflets.

Fight Drugs by Air

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico is opening an airborne campaign on growing of marijuana and opium poppy seeds. The attorney-egeneral's office said a fleet of helicopters and small aircraft will search out plantations growing the narcotics and clandestine landing strips used to smuggle the contraband out.

T.V. with Lee

Perry Como Entertains Onetime Movie Favorite Alice Faye at 9

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY—Each time I have a holiday I swear solemnly by all the beards of the prophets that I won't once look at the Idiot's Lantern even when it's off. And yet each time, like some old unreformed junkie or alcoholic, I can't refrain from sneaking the odd "shot" when no one is looking.

Here were some of them:

An unrestrained "Well done!" to all those associated with NBC-TV's "Hollywood Melody"—meaning Donald O'Connor, Nanette Fabray, Shirley Jones, Howard Keel, Juliet Prowse and Richard Chamberlain, not forgetting executive producer Arthur Freed. This, surely, must be considered the best TV musical of the year . . .

Fabian is a pleasant-looking young man but I think it's a pity that he allows himself to appear with the likes of Bob Hope and Ethel Merman—the comparison in talent is overpowering. Hope, in their duet, even did the things Fabian is supposed to be good at better than Fabian! . . .

A merci beaucoup to the CBC for bringing us the superb program of taped highlights from the world figure skating championships held recently at Prague. Perhaps because we so seldom shine in world competition of any kind, the sight of the incomparable Donald Jackson, Wendy Griner, the Jelineks et al in action was especially welcome in light of the rugged competition they were up against . . .

★ ★ ★

ABC-TV's fight last Saturday night must have left all sportsmen shaking their heads in regret that any athletic contest should have to end in such a sad manner. Certainly it can't do the game any good . . .

Although I suppose it was a most difficult event to cover in light of the number of contestants, the uncertainty of eventual winners and so on, CHEK-TV's highlights of the provincial tenpin bowling championships left much to be desired from a viewer's standpoint . . .

Huzzas for: Channel 8's coverage of local high school students doing the Bunny Hop last Saturday afternoon . . . dancer Gwen Verdon on the Garry Moore Show . . . William Bendix as a surprisingly effective "heavy" on Dick Powell's "330 Independence SW" . . . Gena Rowlands as Teddy, the deaf-mute wife of Detective Carella on NBC-TV's Monday night edition of 87th Precinct . . . and, finally, for Du Pont Show of the Week's exercise in crime two Sundays back, "Cops and Robbers," with Edward G. Robinson as host and narrator.

Irish Luck Favors 20 Islanders

A total of 20 Vancouver Island residents, 14 of them in Victoria, have drawn tickets in the Irish Hospital sweepstakes held on the Grand National steeplechase to be run at Aintree, England, Saturday.

None of the tickets is on the highly touted favorite, Nicolaus Silver, and many are on non-starters. Top prize is approximately $120,000, and tickets on horses which do not start or finish out of the money are worth approximately $1,100.

"Skim Milk" of Campbell River holds a ticket on Springbok, quoted at 14 to 1, and Wentle A. Young of Beaver has Mr. What, at 40 to 1.

COME IN THREES

Hoping that good things come in threes is Alf Wallis, 724 Maddison, who shares a ticket on long-shot Seas End with his father, Guy Wallis. The younger Wallis won a station wagon in a raffle three years ago; just prior to that his wife, Anna, won $50 in a raffle.

"I didn't sleep last night," Anna said today, "I'm hoping so hard third time will be lucky again."

Lt. H. April, 2602 Graham, whose non-de-plume, appropriately, is Showers, drew Fort Dawn, a non-starter.

Other Victoria tickets:

XCT 14839, held by Jonas Chow on horse Siracusa; XCT 11074 by Canada on Solfen (20-1); XDQ 14651 by Foochow on Rattling Run; XAE 30101 by Kathy on College Master (33-1); XPA 26138 by Van Dyke on Scotch Prince; XCT 10635 held by Mr. Yumie and XML 11080 by Red, both on Taxidermist (25-1); XCT 11322 by Tinks on Brian Oge; XAQ 28650 by Happy New Year's on Out of Town; XCA 25430 by This Time on Clipador; XCA 25171 by Bomba on Hawas Song, and ZRS 14619 by Cleon on Naval Law.

Mrs. R. C. Borleske, Qualicum Beach, drew The Belle; J. F. Eden of Bloedel is rooting for Owen's Sedge.

Also contending Up-Island are tickets XCE 96915, held by Lil Abner, on Suffragette, and ZZT 71185, by Kaydee, Cassidy, on Blonde Warrior.

Special Group Handles Plan

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black told the legislature Tuesday night the project "is in the planning stage."

"You and I are impatient," said Mr. Black, but it would tak esome time.

"Any government could go round the bend—over the wall—on this type of thing and have something resembling the Smithsonian Institute."

Ambassador Recalled

PARIS (Reuters) — Ambassador Maurice Dejean arrived in Paris Tuesday after being recalled from Moscow by the French government for consultations.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Joey H. Dean, age 9, Mason, Mich., for his question:

What Is Spanish Moss?

The big cypress trees of Florida seem to wear green-grey wigs of trailing hair. The gnarled quick oaks of Louisiana seem to be wearing long, green-grey beards on their branches. These fuzzy wigs and beards, we are told, are Spanish moss, a plant that grows high in the branches of many trees in the warm Southland. Sometimes the fuzzy tangle covers an avenue of trees and makes a shady tunnel.

Spanish moss is not moss at all. Nor is it Spanish. When you see it growing high in the branches of a tree, you might think it is a parasite plant like the mistletoe. But Spanish moss is not a parasite which takes its food from another plant.

The strange plant is a native of the Americas. It grows in the warm, damp regions of Central and South America and the sunny, damp regions of North America. It also grows among the forest trees of the West Indies.

We always find Spanish moss growing high in the branches of a tree. Its trailing streamers look very different from the sturdy pineapple plant, which is always found squatting on the ground. Nevertheless the two plants are cousins. Spanish moss, which is actually an American plant, is a member of the pineapple plant family.

Most plants, of course, have their roots in the ground. They make a living by soaking up moisture and chemicals from the soil. Spanish moss has no roots in the ground—in fact, it has no roots at all. The seed for a new plant finds a small crack in the bark of a lofty branch. There it clings with the help of tiny clamps.

Streamers Trap Moisture

Soon the little seeds begins to grow a hairy stem which branches out into a fuzz of fragile foliage. The trailing branches get longer and longer and the entire plant is covered with hairy scales. The fuzzy streamers act like sponges. They trap the rain, the dew and the misty moisture from the air and hold it in tiny pockets. This is the water which the Spanish moss uses to make a living.

Plants need air and sunshine as well as water. This is why Spanish moss chooses to live high in the branches of a tree. It uses the tree to hoist itself up and get a seat in the sunshine, but it never steals its food from the tree as does a parasite plant.

The early settlers of America were always glad to find trailing streamers of Spanish moss, for they used it to make comfortable beds. Nowadays we use its spongy streamers as a packing material. It also is used in flower shops to protect the roots of potted plants. Some people use Spanish moss to line the baskets of trailing plants which hang on their walls.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas to Thad Childre, age 10, Houston Texas, for his question:

Do Vampire bats suck human blood?

Many of the furry little bats should be rated as our friends, for they devour our enemies, the insects. The vampire bat, however, is not our friend. For his only food is fresh, warm blood taken from a living victim. He will take a meal from a sleeping human being. But the little vampire bat is not quite as bad as he is painted.

The true vampire bat lives in Mexico and Brazil and he is only three inches long. He lands on a sleeping camper, light as a feather and uses his sharp front teeth to open a vein. The operation is quite painless and the sleeper does not awake. The bat does not suck blood, he laps it up as it oozes from the wound. The victim does not lose much blood, but the wound may become infected from disease germs carried by the little vampire.

Flight Ban Lifted

PARIS (Reuters) — The government lifted Tuesday the ban it imposed March 12 on all flights of tourist planes over France. The ban, similar to one imposed during the abortive military revolt in Algiers last April, affected all private and charter plane flights.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—What a town, what a town. Even when it rains and snows the same day . . . even when it's bad . . . New York's still pretty good.

Shirley Jones (of Smithton, Pa.), wearing a very low-cut cocktail dress, with a huge aquamarine ring over the little finger of her black-gloved hand, sat in the Plaza Palm Garden—dazzling people with her beauty.

"What do you want to do after 'The Music Man' is released?" I asked. (She plays the Librarian.)

"A real good dramatic part—a meaty leading lady role like Susan Hayward plays!" she said.

Maybe a remake of "The Snakepit," she laughed. "I'd love to do St. Joan!"

There you are, Hollywood. Lovely Mrs. Jack Cassidy, mother of two (the latest being Patrick William, 10 weeks old), is waiting for you to push her into the Ingrid Bergman-Olivia DeHavilland League.

HOW COULD YOU?

Shirley—who played a bad, bad girl in "Elmer Gantry" and got some letters from mothers who said, "You're my daughter's idol; how could you play such a part?"—told me that she is a much better girl in "The Music Man."

"I think things are leaving off with Hollywood making such musicals as 'Camelot' and 'State Fair' and the girls are going to be better," Shirley said.

"How's your mother going to like you playing a spinster librarian in 'The Music Man?' " I asked her.

"I suspect," she said, "My mother's going to adore anything I do."

Eddie Fisher is going to be singing at the Las Vegas Desert Inn around Christmas—he'll open a new room. When I asked the name of the room, he laughingly replied — being in very good spirits—"Maybe the Eddie Fisher Room!" He and Liz purchased a big new home at Gstaad, Switzerland (reported cost $350,000) which they hope to get into after "Cleopatra." Eddie also revealed while here that one of the genuine admirers of the acting ability of Richard Burton is . . . Eddie Fisher.

New York's where: The other 1 o'clock in the morning, young actor Robert Redford, in stocking feet, scaled three floors of the side of an E. 38th St. apartment building, getting in through an open window, because his friend Daniel Selznick (David's son) had locked himself out.

"You see," explained Redford—who's very good in "Sunday in New York"—"mountain climbing and human-fly scaling is my hobby. It sort of scared my wife, though. She's pregnant. She charged into the building so she wouldn't see me kill myself."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ethel Merman'll star at Lake Tahoe's Harrah's next winter . . . Roz Russell is reported chickening out on doing her own vocalizing in "Gypsy"—but may do it yet . . . Carole Lawrence'll be signed soon for a TV series . . . Roberta Sherwood in her International act, works with son Don Lanning: "There's nothing like putting your kids to work" . . . Burgess Meredith, hospitalized after surgery, ordered meals from the swank Monsignore.

Tommy Sands is one third finished with the novel he's writing, about "social problems" . . . Teresa Brewer's buying an island in the Bahamas . . . A well-known political figure tried to make a deal with a chic restaurant—50% off his checks for bringing in prominent and wealthy guests . . . Fred Astaire's dance studios in Britain will also carry actress Anna Neagle's name—Astaire-Neagle.

EARL'S PEARLS: Today's child knows the value of a nickel. That's why he asks for a dime.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "They're piping music into Internal Revenue offices," reports Bill Gold. "What's the album—'Music to Pluck Taxpayers By'?"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Taffy Tuttle's catty description of a girl: "She should make veil's popular again."

That's earl, brother.

Water Rates To Be Cut?

Saanich finance committee Monday decided to ask comptroller-treasurer John Tribe and municipal engineer Neville Life to look into the matter of reducing the water rates this year.

Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman, said the rates should be brought down somewhere in line with Victoria's.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Advt.

Forces Take Over Argentina Frondizi Quits Presidency

TROOPS GUARD BUILDINGS

Steel-helmeted Argentine soldiers guard buildings in Buenos Aires today as military forces seized control of country and forced President Arturo Frondizi to resign in latest political upheaval.

FRENCH FIRE POWER 'STUNS' SECRET ARMY

ALGIERS (AP)—The French massed 60,000 troops in Algiers today to bring the city's 300,000 defiant European settlers under control.

Reinforcements rolled in from the countryside to guard against any new outbreak by the Secret Army of Europeans fighting to sabotage the cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian nationalist rebels. Armored cars and half-tracks patrolled streets of the Algerian capital.

The settlers' cause appeared hard hit by the heavy army fire into a crowd of European demonstrators Monday, in which 45 Europeans were killed and 120 wounded in the heart of the city.

"We are so stunned we cannot think of any reaction," said one Secret Army agent.

DUKE'S PLANES POISED FOR QUICK FLIGHT

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Two planes stood by at a nearby airport today in case the Duke of Edinburgh wanted to leave Argentina quickly.

It was not known immediately whether the Duke's schedule would be changed as a result of the political situation. He was scheduled to stay at two ranches near here until Monday.

Head of Courts May Take Post

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentine President Frondizi was reported today to have resigned in the face of a military takeover of Buenos Aires.

The Argentine news agency Saporiti said the president had stepped down and asked Benjamin Villegas Basavilbaso, president ofthe Argentine Supreme Court, to take over the country's presidency.

The resignation report came after the country's three armed forces commanders had declared they intended to oust Frondizi today.

The army had earlier seized control of Buenos Aires in the forerunning action of a long-threatened coup.

Troops Occupy Strategic Points

More soldiers from Olavarria and Tandil, about 200 miles south and southwest of the capital, also were reported moving on Buenos Aires.

Stores and places of business opened normally in Buenos Aires this morning. The transportation system operated as usual.

There were no immediate reports of unrest from industrial areas.

Shortly before Frondizi arrived his press secretary denied statements by staff members at his residence that the president had vanished and that he had not slept there Tuesday night.

Today's military moves brought to a head the simmering dispute between Frondizi and armed service chiefs which began over disagreement on how to deal with the substantial victories in March 18 elections of Peron supporters. Peron was ousted in 1955.

The armed forces wanted a national coalition in which they could be represented.

Earlier today Frondizi rejected a formal demand to resign made to him by the heads of the armed services.

The demand was the climax of hours of discussions at Government House, seat of the presidency and of several government departments, including the defence ministry.

A tense atmosphere prevailed as the efforts to get the president to quit went on into the early hours of the morning.

Deputies, Senators Gather

Deputies and senators gathered in the corridors. Frondizi stayed in his office while the secretaries of the armed forces with their commanders-in-chief and top unit commanders, met in the offices of the ministry of defence.

The announcement that the president had rejected the call to resign was made at a press conference by Martinez.

He said the secretaries for war and air and the commander of naval operations asked him to tell the president that the view of their forces were the same as those expressed to him Tuesday by ex-president Pedro Aramburu — that he should resign.

Aramburu was appointed by Frondizi to try to mediate in the crisis.

Martinez added at the early morning press conference: "President Frondizi replied that his decision not to resign was final."

Martinez added he had made proposals "inspired by the need of national unity, defence of the constitutional order and democratic ideals" and that they were approved by Frondizi.

Usually reliable government sources said the proposals consisted firstly of the creation of a new cabinet with all ministers hand-picked by the armed forces; secondly, armed forces supervision of all legislation and thirdly shortening of the presidential term which was due to expire May 1, 1964.

Army Seizes Syria

DAMASCUS (Reuters) — The Syrian armed forces announced today they have seized power, dissolved parliament and accepted the resignations of the president, premier and cabinet.

In a series of communiques broadcast over Damascus radio the armed forces general command issued a warning against demonstrations and disorders.

The command pledged positive steps toward Pan-Arab unity, based on a sound foundation with liberated Arab countries, particularly "dear Egypt and sister Iraq."

It said it considered Palestine the "prime Arab cause" and pledged to mobilize all efforts for "the liberation of usurped Arab land" in Israel.

The command charged that "conspiring elements" had penetrated into power and that parliamentary deputies had worked for their own interests.

REFER TO COURTS

"The army command therefore felt itself compelled to depose those in power and conspiring elements and refer them to the courts to have their final say," one communique said.

The command also announced that Syrian borders and airports had been closed until further notice.

It said martial law was proclaimed but the army would return to its barracks as soon as "the objectives of the revolution have been achieved."

Damascus radio broadcast an announcement by the army high command saying it was taking over because the civilian government had betrayed the aims of the September military coup, six months ago today, which broke Syria away from its union with Egypt in the United Arab Republic.

It said the army would hit "with iron fists" against anyone disturbing the peace.

The high command said a provisional government will be formed from "loyal elements" and Syria will continue with a policy of positive neutrality, observing international treaties and the principles of the United Nations.

The high command said the government had protected plotters and saboteurs and deprived laborers of their gains under the September revolution.

BIGGEST DEAL YET

$75 Million Wheat Sale To Red China

OTTAWA (CP)—A new wheat sale to Red China involving just over 39,000,000 bushels worth $75,000,000 was announced today by Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton.

It is the biggest of the six grain deals completed to date with China.

Mr. Hamilton, given a long, desk-thumping welcome back to the Commons after a two-month illness, said the latest contract boosts to 108,000,000 bushels the amount of wheat sold to Red China under a long-term credit agreement that is ultimately to cover 186,700,000 bushels of wheat and 46,700,000 bushels of barley.

Canada has so far sold 26,000,000 bushels of the barley. In addition, China purchased 31,700,000 bushels of wheat and 12,700,000 bushels of barley on a cash basis last spring.

SAME PAYMENT

Payment terms for the latest purchase are identical to five previous contracts—25 per cent cash and the balance on 273 days' credit with interest.

The transaction was completed within the $100,000,000 credit guarantee made by the Canadian government to the Canadian Wheat Board to facilitate sale of grain to China.

Bulk of the wheat will be shipped from west coast ports from June to December, assuring a steady volume of exports from Vancouver for the balance of this year, Mr. Hamilton said.

About 5,600,000 bushels will be shipped from Atlantic and St. Lawrence River ports in April and May.

'Courts Cannot Return BCE'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. government claimed Tuesday it can keep the B.C. Electric Company even if the courts rule that the legislation under which the company was expropriated last August was illegal.

M. M. McFarlane, counsel for the attorney-general in an appeal against a court order placing the BCE under receivership, said the courts are powerless to restore the BCE to the B.C. Power Corporation, its former owner.

Even if B.C. Power wins its suit to have the takeover declared invalid the Social Credit government does not have to hand the BCE back to it unless it chooses to, he said.

Mr. McFarlane said that in the event the courts should rule that the expropriation last August was illegal, it will require a further court action against the government to have the actual property returned.

CAN REFUSE FIAT

But here the government has the power to block such a law suit by refusing to grant a fiat (permission to sue the government), he said.

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris, one of the five court of appeal judges hearing the appeal, pointed out that such permission had already been refused by the government, in connection with B.C. Power's previous efforts to get the BCE takeover before the courts.

Mr. McFarlane raised his point in support of his appeal against last week's order by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes. That order ruled that a receiver should be appointed to stand guard over the BCE's assets until B.C. Power suit challenging the validity of the takeover is settled. Dr. Harry L. Purdy, former BCE president, was appointed receiver.

"The court has no right to make an order for a receiver when the court is powerless to restore that property," said Mr. McFarlane.

SOLICITED OR VOLUNTARY?

MLA Row Over Letters From Delinquent Girls

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

The B.C. legislature broke up in wild uproar at 2.05 this morning over letters attacking an Opposition member which the government said came from delinquent girls in Willingdon School in Burnaby.

An eruption of ill-temper flared in debate on the welfare department as the government pushed through the night to speed toward prorogation of the longest session in years.

The government's sheaf of letters was read by Dan Campbell (SC—Comox).

He said the typewritten letters he held were all from girls in Willingdon and addressed to Don Robinson, Socred MLA for Lillooet.

Barrett Speech

The letters all referred to press and radio reports of a speech made earlier in the session by Dave Barrett (NDP-CCF—Dewdney) which said that girls in the school were led to prostitution and drug addiction.

The last quote read out by Mr. Campbell was:

"We wish to say we express our appreciation for your concern on our part."

Mr. Strachan charged: "It is obvious from the wording of some of the letters that either someone had written to the girls asking for their comments on a press report, or someone in the sch l had asked them to write."

He added:

"The government is so ashamed of its attitude toward social welfare that it promoted a deliberate scheme.

"It should also be ashamed that we're sitting here at 2.05 a.m. discussing the lives of a great many people."

(The social welfare department estimates total $30,389,531.)

FLOODS RAGE IN MID-U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — Flood workers battled the surging waters of many rivers and streams in parts of Iowa and Nebraska today as early spring overflows forced hundreds of persons from their homes.

In Nebraska, the most severe flooding appeared to be in Pierce, on the Northfork River in the upper northeast section of the state. The river had spilled over more than 30 blocks of town of some 1,200 persons.

Site Chosen For New B.C. Drug Clinic

OTTAWA (CP)—A site has been selected adjacent to the Abbotsford, B.C., airport for a $4,000,000 narcotic drug institution, Justice Minister Fulton announced today.

Mr. Fulton said the institution, which will accommodate 400 men and 150 women convicted of offences against the Narcotic Control Act, is the first major step by the federal penitentiaries system to design special segregated control and treatment facilities for drug addicts.

"A treatment centre will also be established on the property to provide room for the experimentation in pilot treatment projects," he said.

ALGERIANS WELCOME RUSS OFFER

LONDON (Reuters) — The Algerian insurgent provisional government has agreed "with pleasure" to Russia's offer to establish diplomatic relations, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Khrushchev earlier this month announced Russia's recognition of the Algerian provisional government and suggested the establishment of diplomatic relations.

This was followed by France recalling its ambassador in Moscow and "inviting" the Soviet ambassador in Paris to return to Moscow.

'Keep Nuclear Clubs Private'

GENEVA (Reuters)—Russia today declared it will refrain from giving its allies atomic weapons or information if the United States and Britain and France will do the same.

The spokesman said: "The Soviet Union itself is ready promptly to assume obligations not to disseminate atomic weapons or technical information for their production on condition Britain and the United States do the same."

The Rapacki plan, rejected by the West in the past on grounds NATO countries, was given a new feature by its author today

Dutch Battle Guerrillas As Guinea Tension Mounts

THE HAGUE (Reuters) Dutch marines and police have reported an exchange of fire with a well-armed unit of some 30 Indonesians on an island off disputed West New Guinea, officials said here today.

The engagement took place at the western tip of Waigeo Island off the Dutch-ruled island territory, the official West New Guinea information office here said.

A report from the Dutch military chief in West New Guinea said the Indonesians retreated after the exchange, leaving ammunition and food behind.

SET UP BLOCKADES

Dutch reinforcements are en route to the disputed territory because of what the government calls the "continual threats and aggressive acts" of Indonesia.

Dutch warships set up blockades at entrances to rivers and small bays on the south coast of New Guinea Tuesday in a bid to trap three of four Indonesian torpedo boats.

A Dutch spokesman said the torpedo boats were intercepted off the coast by Dutch planes during the nights of March 25 and 26 but fled to shallow water to avoid pursuit by larger ships.

The Netherlands news agency reported that a Dutch KLM DC-8 airliner left Willemstad, Curacao, early today two destroyers and two submarines were en route to New Guinea.

Unconfirmed reports here said the Dutch may use the warships to evacuate Dutch from the territory.

RESTED AFTER TOUR OF INDIA

Jackie Guest of Queen

LONDON (Reuters)—Jacqueline Kennedy, rested after her strenuous tour of the Indian subcontinent, was a guest of the Queen at a luncheon party at Buckingham Palace today.

The American president's wife, wearing a pink coat and mink hat, drew cheers from a crowd of 500 who gathered outside the palace to see her arrive.

Grenadier Guards snapped to attention and saluted as her car entered the palace courtyard and she got out and posed briefly for photographers.

She told reporters: "It's a great honor and very kind of the Queen to invite me." In answer to a question, she said she was well-rested.

Guests included Prime Minister Macmillan and his wife; American Ambassador and Mrs. Dave Bruce; the Duke of Devonshire, a relation of the president by marriage, and, Prince and Princess Radziwill, Mrs. Kennedy's brother-in-law and sister.

Earlier, women's organizations and a number of individual women sent telegrams to Mrs. Kennedy asking her to use her "influence" with President Kennedy to halt nuclear tests.

The United States plans to resume testing next month unless an agreement banning tests is reached with Russia.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

A group of worthy citizens has decided to spend its party funds in a novel way.

Independent Merchants United, an organization of food merchants, was looking forward to its annual "bash" but then heard about the drive to raise funds for the new wing of St. Joseph's Hospital.

The doughty burghers immediately agreed to forego the party and instead donate $100 to the fund.

Arthur Mayse, the sweet scrivener of Saanich, has one of his entertaining fiction stories splashed all over the current edition of Saturday Evening Post. No Canadian writer has made more big-league sales in recent years than Mayse, who got the background for his logging yarns as a one-time "whistle punk" at Franklin River near Alberni.

"I come in here every day because I get tired of reading and just sitting around . . . also, it's a good place to get warm."

This is what brings 86-year-old John Evans into the public gallery at city police court each day. Having homesteaded on the Prairies for 50 years, he finds the days drag unless he can spend a few hours in court.

"That Ostler, he's a good magistrate, sometimes too good . . . them young fellers are lucky to come under him."

At the Boys' Club annual meeting last night, several of the young tykes turned up at the refreshment table in chefs' hats and white aprons. It was explained that one of the youngsters had made the fudge squares served, director Bernie Van Aggelen sampled one and then—to the immense delight of the grinning boy—cried: "On to the Empress!".

YOUNG DOWNARD

The son of Mrs. H. D. Young, RR No. 1, he flew Sabre jet aircraft with Canada's air division at Gros Tonquin in France before taking up his appointment in Portage.

Flying Officer Jay E. Downard has been transferred from St. Huberts, Quebec, where he flew CF-100s, to North Bay, Ont., as squadron operations officer.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Downard, 291 View Royal, he attended previously Bomarc familiarization courses in the U.S.

That excellent Pacific Coast magazine, Sunset, leads off its April issue with a fine picture of the daffodils in Beacon Hill Park. But then, in describing park attractions it adds: "The fine 143-foot totem pole on the slope of the flower meadows was carved by Mungo Martin in 1958 to celebrate B.C.'s centenary."

The facts: The World's Tallest Totem Pole is 127 feet 7 inches—16 feet less than Sunset gives it credit for. It is not on the slope of the flower meadows. And it was erected in 1956 by subscriptions through the Times. (So it needs a new paint job?)

It was the third time in a month the fellow had been found in that condition and hauled in.

He was so upset that, once in the station, he pulled out his glass eye and dashed it on the cement floor, shattering it in sundry pieces.

Bill Thompson, former real estate agent with Ker and Stephenson Ltd., has moved a couple of doors down the street from that company and opened up a different type of business.

Called Scotty's House, it features knick knacks and full-length skirt material. Among the eye-catching selection of goods is a Totem Pole Clock—designed by Bill and made in Japan.

Gaglardi Denies 'Contrived Sale'

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi denied them.

He said the department had bought the land and later sold it.

He said the owners, who had unsuccessfully applied for a fiat to sue the government, were mistaken if they thought they still owned the land.

A petition of right seeking a fiat had been sent to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black Jan. 27, 1961, he said, by Harold Dremin acting for his late mother, Mrs. Elena Smook. A renewed application two months ago still was unanswered, said Mr. Macdonald.

The Dremin-Smook property consisted of 10 acres near Oak St. Bridge, sold to the highways department for $32,000 in 1956.

Mr. Macdonald said the Smook family claimed another piece had been taken without compensation in 1958.

In 1959 the highways department had sold the land to a construction company for $5,200.

"Today the Delport Motor Hotel stands upon the property," said Mr. Macdonald.

He said the highways department had declared the land as needed for a public highway, but later passed a cabinet order approving the sale.

"They allege it was a contrived and prearranged sale," said Mr. Macdonald.

He said the government should allow them to state their case in court.

"I regret very much the government has been prone to deny from time to time not only the right of shareholders but the right of private citizens to go to the courts."

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said outside the House he didn't know anything about the case.

However, Highways Minister Gaglardi did.

"We did purchase the property," he said.

This was what happened in the Smook case. The title deed still didn't show record of the sale.

Mr. Gaglardi said Mr. Dremin's lawyers had asked if he could buy the land back before it was sold to the construction company.

They saw it hadn't been deleted from the title," he added. "Then they acted on the basis that it still belonged to them."

The property had originally been bought for the Deas Island Highways, said Mr. Gaglardi.

Electramatic Drive is offered on both the V-75 illustrated and the 40 hp.

First Electramatic Drive in Outboards:

The invention of Electramatic Drive makes the Johnson V-75 and 40 Sea-Horse the most convenient-to-drive-outboards you can buy.

A single, foolproof lever controls the throttle and electrically engages the clutch. The pictures below show how the lever and clutch work. Push the lever forward to go ahead, back for reverse. The single-lever makes it impossible to move the wrong lever or race the motor in neutral. The clutch has two electromagnets. One for forward, the other for reverse. As you move the single lever forward an electric contact is made. Instantly the clutch is activated. Move it back to neutral, and instantly the clutch cuts out. When you move the lever backwards, the other electro-magnet cuts in and back you go.

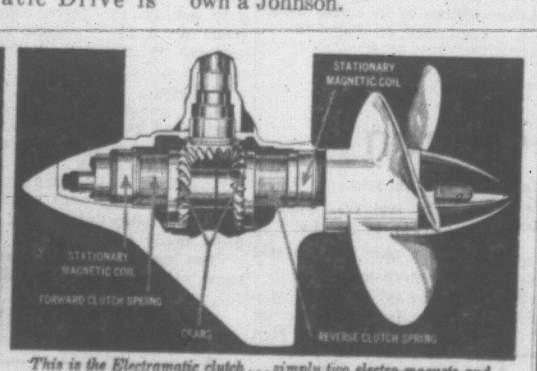

Will the electric clutch wear out? Hardly. Since electromagnets have no moving parts, wear is virtually eliminated. And the electric clutch action is smooth, instant and totally silent.

Electramatic Drive is available on both the mighty V-75 (illustrated) and the Sea-Horse 40. Your Johnson Dealer can show you which of these powerful Sea-Horses offers the measure of power, dependability and economy you want. See him now.

Your Johnson dealer also carries a complete line of Sea-Horse accessories, including generator kits, power-tilt kits, radio-noise-suppression kits and propellers. With almost a thousand dealers across Canada, service is never a problem when you own a Johnson.

Builders Sash and Door Opens Ultra-Modern Store

There are few places you can go on Vancouver Island without running into the handiwork of Builders Sash and Door, a firm now celebrating its 52nd anniversary in brand new premises on Burnside Road.

The ultra-modern story at 483 Burnside that displays the quality products of the new factory above and behind it bears litle similarity to the frame shed that started in 1910 as Canadian Western Woodworkers Ltd. but the same workmanship is there.

Already Operating

Formal opening of the new buildings is scheduled for Thursday but already owner Jack Lord and his staff of 32 have been coping with customers old and new while trying to solve the chaos of moving.

At 9.30 a.m. Thursday Trade and Industry Minister Robert Bonner will formally open the new operation and other special events will take place Friday and Saturday.

A pair of nylon stockings will be given away to each of the first hundred ladies in the store and each of the first hundred men will get a carpenter's apron.

Many Door Prizes

Throughout the first three days door prizes donated by wholesalers and other firms will be drawn. Saturday afternoon the grand prize, a kitchen decorated up to the value of $400 will be drawn.

The property was acquired and building started over a year ago but a disastrous fire last year burned down the structure.

Boasting 15,000 square feet of floor area, the factory is estimated to cost between $150,000 and $200,000.

The store, much larger than it predecessor on Garbally Road, has 6,000 square feet of space.

Although the total floor area in both buildings is about the same as the combined factory and store space at the old site efficiency is increased immeasurably because of the latest techniques and machinery.

This, says Mr. Lord, combined with all working area being on one floor, compared to three for the old building, will mean greater savings to the customer through cheaper operating costs.

One of the many "firsts" claimed by the firm is in the construction of the factory where two glue laminate beams measuring 100 feet each were installed. These are believed to be the longest of their type used in local construction.

Quality work by Builders may be found in the Port Hardy Airport terminal, Campbell River Junior-Senior High School, Esquimalt High School, the Tally-Ho Motel and the Ingraham Motel.

3 Brothers Started

In 1910 three brothers named Cousin started Canadian Western Woodworkers Ltd. on Garbally Road south of Gorge Road.

In the tiny plant they turned out joinery work, sash and doors, general mill work and office and house fixtures.

The partners were reduced to two shortly afterward when Charles Cousin went down with the Princess Sophia when she sank in the Lynn Canal.

In 1919 Ned McGillivray formed a company and negotiated a loan which enabled him to buy the firm and carry on operations under the same name.

Business was bad in those days and the company had to start practically from scratch.

Export Trade Gained

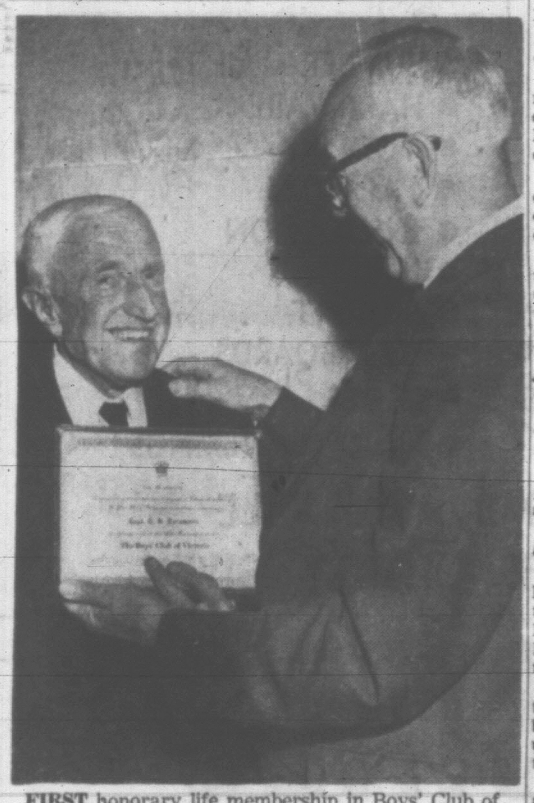

However a fair share of the local trade was garnered and the firm also shipped doors to English and Australian markets in addition to house fittings to Prairie provinces.

In 1925 Robert Hurst joined the company as manager and business continued to improve until 1930 when a fire burned the plant to the ground.

However rebuilding started almost immediately and customers flocked back.

In 1948 the firm was bought by Stewart & Hudson and reorganized as Builders Sash and Door under the management of Jack Lord.

Ten years later Mr. Lord purchased a controlling interest in the firm and, a year later, started plans to move to the present location.

LIBRARY MAY OPEN SATURDAYS

He was answering Opposition Leader Robert Strachan who told the legislature that the library belongs to the citizens of the province.

"With closure of every government department at five o'clock and all day Saturday, the facilities of the government are not easily accessible to the average worker of the province," said Mr. Strachan.

We have started the ball rolling to see what the costs are going to be and so on," said Mr. Black.

Beauty Show Judges Named

Other judges are Logan Mayhew, Peter Bruton, Mrs. A. E. Walters and Miss Elizabeth Forbes.

Angus to Hear CS Grievances

Dr. Henry Angus, chairman of the B.C. Public Utilities Commision, will be appointed chairman of the civil service board of reference, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black said Tuesday.

He was replying in the legislature to questions by David Barrett (NDP-CCF Dewdney), and Opposition leader Robert Strachan, during debate on the minister's salary.

At the same time, to the question of wether the government intends to release the Carruthers report (on whether civil servants should have bargaining rights), Mr. Black said:

'ANSWER IS NO'

"The answer is the same as last year. The answer is no. Nothing could be clearer than that. You asked me for a frank statement and I'm giving it to you."

Mr. Black said Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, had been considered for the job of board of reference, but he was "taken up with power" and with his consent the government decided that "Dr. Angus will chair this committee."

No other appointments have been made, he said.

STALLING

Mr. Strachan complained of stalling in the interval since the plan was announced—18 months until September, 1961.

"This is efficiency?" he asked. Meanwhile civil service grievances have been "sitting there stewing."

Radio Engineers Meet

The Victoria sub-section of the Institute of Radio Engineers will meet at 8 tonight in the Flame Room of the B.C. Electric building.

D. Clelland of the PGE will speak on "The Statistical Analysis of Tube Performance."

Alcoholism Fight Urged

A big advertising program aimed at combatting alcoholism—and paid for out of provincial government liquor profits—was urged in the legislature Tuesday.

The plan, proposed by Liberal leader Ray Perrault, will be given consideration, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black promised.

He pointed out the government's 1962 grant of $120,000 to the Alcoholism Foundation of B.C. was not much compared with nearly $30,000,000 in clear profit from liquor sales.

A public promotion campaign is needed in newspapers, on the radio and on television, the member told the House.

GOOD WORK

Mr. Black gave credit to the work done by Alcoholic Anonymous, which with the Alcohol Research and Education Council, the government has been trying to join with the Alcohol Foundation.

He said "criticism of insufficient funds for advertising is possibly well taken. The government is trying to view (alcoholism) with perspective and get (a program) on the rails."

Council Faces Big Job Averting 6-Mill Hike

OLD VICTORIA RESIDENCE on Michigan Street is being blitzed by bulldozer to make way for 12-storey, 100-suite apartment block to be built by Chartered Investments Ltd. of Edmonton, Alta. It was built in 1895 by William Young who founded the New England bakery. In recent years it has housed several families. (Times Photo.)

GOOD FATHER GIVEN CHANCE BY COURT

The report stated James E. Cousins, 2 Maple Avenue, Sooke, had raised his two children in a model manner, and he had never been in trouble before.

He was found guilty of breaking and entering the Gorge Road B-A Station two months ago. He had been drinking at the time.

Tonic-Loaded David Walked Slept It Off

Three-year-old David Hrechka was reported fully recovered today from the effects of swallowing a two-weeks' supply of his older sister's nerve tonic.

St. Joseph's Hospital said a long walk and a good sleep had countered the effects of the medicine.

POLICE SEARCH

On returning from school, sister Gloria found the medicine bottle empty and their mother, Mrs. Ethel Hrechka, put in a frantic call to police, who statred the search fearing that the dose he had taken might be fatal.

The brothers were found later in the afternoon at Yates and Douglas. David had fallen into a deep sleep in a shopping cart pushed by George. He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, where doctors found that the effects of the nerve tonic had worn off.

FAMED FAMILY

First RN In Canada 95 Saturday

DAILY WALK

"She goes for a walk in the grounds every day and is always offering to help us," said Mrs. Elsie Poulsen, matron. "She reads and listens to the radio but doesn't like TV. It's too noisy," she says.

Miss Pemberton was born in the old Pemberton family home on Fairfield, on March 31, 1867. Her father, Hon. Augustus John Pemberton, was a leading figure in the city's early history.

PLANS PARTY

She devoted her working life to nursing and took up her first hospital appointment at Halifax, N.S., nearly 70 years ago.

Having no surviving relatives, Miss Pemberton will give a party for a few friends on Saturday and the hospital will provide a full-size birthday cake with all the trimmings.

Estimates Chopped $350,000

City council will begin its final budget drive late in April facing an increase of approximately $550,000 in expenditures which could boost last year's tax rate by almost six mills.

Committees have chopped almost $350,000 off the initial expenditure estimates which had been $901,000 higher than last year. In addition, a drop in the assessment roll will add between $25,000 and $129,000 to the burden.

MONEY BYLAW

Led by Mayor R. B. Wilson, a majority of council is expected to pull several capital projects out of the budget at the council level next month and present them to the voters in a money bylaw.

Mayor Wilson told a committee Tuesday that borrowing would enable the city to carry out needed projects while keeping the mill rate at a manageable level "and still reducing our total debt which is being repaid at the rate of $640,000 at present."

Fire wardens committee this morning set aside a proposed new $70,000 firehall at John and Turner for financing out of tax sale lands fund or borrowing.

It added $15,000 towards a fund started last year to replace a 33-year-old pumper truck still in service.

WELFARE DOWN

Committee also was told that the city's welfare program will drop by $9,865 this year to a total of $277,545. Health costs also will be cut back $5,500 to a net $58,531 by last September's creation of a metro health board.

Tuesday, the parks and public works sections worked straight through seven and a half hours, eating sandwiches in their seats for supper, to complete their estimates.

RECOMMENDED

Aldermen in these sections lopped off large amounts in the proposed expenditures but still recommended that the city:

Install new mercury lights on Cook, between Pandora and Dallas; on Douglas, between the Roundabout and Tolmie; on Burnside, between Douglas and Harriet; on Pandora, between Quadra and Cook; on Yates, between Cook and Fort;

The A Cappella Choir of the University of the Pacific, Stockton, was making its first appearance in Canada. Judging from the reception, it won't be the last.

VICTORIAN

The group was brought to Victoria by a group of citizens and the Camosun Gyro Club.

TRAFFIC FINES

Dennis Davey, 1258 Bay, illegal turn, 10.

50 Exhibits At Lansdowne Science Fair

Victoria College, the Pacific Naval Laboratory, and the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory will provide judges for a science fair to be held at Lansdowne Junior High School on Friday at 8 p.m.

Fifty exhibits built by students of grades seven, eight and nine will be on display in competition for a first prize of $10, a second prize of $5 and a third prize of $3.

Included in the "school-and-home-made" projects will be a water purifier, a three-stage rocket and an electronic scoreboard.

Oak Bay and Colquitz Junior High Schools already have had their science fairs, and the possibility of holding a combined exhibition of the best projects is being discussed.

A science fair was held in Victoria for the first time last year at Lansdowne Junior High School. Local science teachers consider such a fair valuable in stimulating the interest of pupils in science.

MONTE ROBERTS

You may remember a news item, a week or so ago, about double parking.

This news item said double parking for ordinary motorists was punishable by fine, imprisonment, or exile, or all three.

But double parking by commercial vehicles, such as delivery trucks, while not exactly legal, was usually not noticed by the police, who happen to look the other way when they fail to see a truck double parked.

Since reading this news item, this double standard of double parking has been bothering me, off and on.

Is this a good thing or a bad thing? I kept wondering. It is something like the feeling I get when I see a bus stopping in a bus zone.

But is it also clearly violating the law, because it stops at a sign which states, in large, readable letters, "NO STOPPING."

In the case of a bus stopping at a no-stopping sign, the law must be looking the other way, as in the case of a truck double parking.

* * *

After brooding about this situation, I have sort of come to the conclusion the double standard is, by and large, a pretty good thing, and possibly should be extended.

For instance, the yellow lines painted on curbs to discourage vehicles from parking there.

Applying the double standard of traffic enforcement, the law would look the other way if the vehicle so parked was of the proper shade of yellow to match the curb.

Or, as in the case of a certain small automobile I know, a snappy black to make an attractive contrast to the yellow curb.

Then, of course, there might well be a double standard employed at intersections where U-turns are prohibited.

This rule would be strictly enforced in all cases, except when the motorist in question can prove his compass was faulty.

But I think the best application of the double standard concerns the rule which says a motorist has to drive on the right hand side of the road.

Three to Run In Esquimalt Byelection

Three candidates have filed papers for the April 7 Esquimalt municipal byelection.

Nominations closed at noon today.

Contesting the council seat vacated by Vincent Rush's resignation will be Walter Holder, Walter Lock and Donald Douglas.

Mr. Holder, 1011 Colville, was narrowly defeated in the December election by councillor Bert Nelson after two recounts.

VETERAN COUNCILLOR

A past member of the Esquimalt council for 11 years, Mr. Holder has served on all committees of the seven-man group.

Walter Lock, 939 Esquimalt Road, has been a meat merchant in the municipality since 1947, taking over the family business started in 1910.

FORMER COMMISSIONER

Mr. Douglas is serving his 16th term as secretary-treasurer of the shipwrights' union.

Pioneer Of Saanich Dead at 79

His father, Louis, came to B.C. as a boy and was proprietor of the Royal Oak Inn. His mother, Janie Cheesman, was the daughter of one of the first settlers in Saanich.

Born in Victoria in 1884, Mr. Duval was the first child to be christened at St. Michael's and All Angels Church. He will be buried there on Friday.

He leaves the widow, Mabel, living at home, 4043 West Saanich Road, and a daughter, Mrs. Fawcett Tyler in Victoria. He is survived also by two other sons, Lt.-Cmdr. Neil in Ottawa, and Roy serving with the RCAF in Trenton, Ontario.

Funeral services will be conducted on Friday at 1.30 p.m. in McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel, Canon J. Rogers officiating. Interment in St. Michael's and All Angels churchyard will follow.

Gov't Reneged On Aid Pledge Says Grower

The B.C. government has reneged on its promise of financial assistance for construction of cold storage facilities for the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, according to T. G. Michell, president.

Speaking at an annual meeting of the association Monday, Mr. Michell said the association fully expected the B.C. government to make a grant towards the project.

He said George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, managed to obtain a federal grant for this purpose and the association expected the provincial government to do the same.

Manager Herbert Bickford said if the provincial government had made the grant as promised, the cold storage facilities would have been ready to handle this year's crop.

He said the lack of cold storage facilities is detrimental to the marketing of small fruit crops which provides a livelihood for several hundred farmers on the Island.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

E. A. McFayden said the association's traditional Miss Victoria should be enough.

He said Miss Victoria is the official representative of the city and competes for the Miss PNE, Miss Canada and even Miss America titles.

By a 3-2 vote Tuesday night, Oak Bay zoning committee decided to recommend that a lot adjoining Victoria College campus area should be zoned as residential.

The lot fronts on Cedar Hill Cross Road, opposite Gordon Head Road. It had previously been recommended by the committee for high-rise apartment zoning.

After a public hearing on March 5 when the high-rise proposal was protested, council referred the matter back to the committee.

Trial of two men accused of breaking and entering will commence in city police court April 5.

Walter Graham no fixed address, and Bruce Tennant, 7656 Wallace Drive, pleaded not guilty today to breaking into Jeffree and Jeffree, 2507 Government Street.

The offence is alleged to have taken place Tuesday night.

Visit Cancelled For Dutch Ships

Cancellation of the visit to Esquimalt of two Dutch warships was confirmed today by the RCN Pacific Command.

The two destroyer escorts, Hr. Ms. Groningen and Hr. Ms. Limburg, were to have docked at 9.30 a.m. Saturday for a week's visit.

It is presumed the two ships which left San Diego Friday have been diverted to West New Guinea, where the Dutch government, involved in a dispute with Indonesia over the Dutch colony, is reinforcing the area after conciliation talks failed in Washington last week.

Ocean Research Centre Likely for College

A multi-million-dollar centre for oceanographic research is likely to be built by the federal government on the Gordon Head campus of Victoria College in about three years.

The University Development Board has followed up the suggestion from Ottawa for establishment of the centre on the campus with an offer of a three-acre site for the laboratories.

Officials of the Department of Mines have already held discussions with the college and are now conducting a full-scale survey of the campus site.

The centre would serve the whole Pacific coast and would match one at New Bedford in Halifax, costing $4,500,000, to be opened this spring.

The institute would have a staff of 225, including 75 scientists, and would have its own vessel berthed in the Victoria harbor.

College spokesmen welcomed the Ottawa offer as "a shot in the arm" to the drive for university funds. The fund is still short $400,000.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Can you tell me how, under the Hospital Co-Insurance Act, the Royal Jubilee Hospital can demand private and semi-private rates of $8 and $4 a day from patients requiring a few days' stay? This is when a request for a bed has been in for weeks. P.G.

A. It is often the case that the $1 public warrant beds are filled being given priority for emergency cases for which beds are always available.

Q. Could you please tell me if there is a message in Morse Code on a Canadian 1944 five-cent piece, and if so what does it say? W.J.M.

A. The message reads, "We win when we work willingly."

Lionel Carriere, 38-year-old logger, said he would accept a $45 cheque from the welfare department to pay his way home and would await there for a decision by Premier Bennett on whether to grant his claim for $1,900. He said he'll repay the $45 to the government when he gets a job.

Kennedy Delays Tariff Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, acknowledging protests from the Belgian government, today postponed for 60 days an increase he had ordered in tariffs on carpets and glass.

Kennedy issued a proclamation putting off the effective date to June 17. The increases, announced on March 19, originally were to have been applied April 18.

IWA Contract Talks Break Down

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contract talks between coast lumber operators and the International Woodworkers of America have ended in a stalemate and the union today announced it has requested appointment of a conciliation officer.

"IWA negotiators claimed that no satisfactory progress had been possible," said a union statement. "The union has made application for the services of a conciliation officer to deal with the dispute which has now developed."

Spanish Seamen Walk Off Ship

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Eleven Spanish seamen walked off the Panamanian freighter Herman Cortex at this Vancouver island port today in what is believed to be a protest against food served on the ship.

Three longshore gangs, totalling about 40 men, refused to go through a picket line set up by the striking seamen.

However, the picket line was removed before noon as the seamen headed for Vancouver to see the Spanish Consulate, and longshoremen were to resume loading of lumber aboard the Herman Cortex.

Frondizi's Position Uncertain

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The three commanders-in-chief of the armed forces held a short conference with Argentine President Frondizi today a few hours after they had framed a new demand that he resign. They said later he rejected the demand.

Earlier Reuters News Agency quoted the Argentine news agency, Saporiti, as saying Frondizi had resigned and asked Supreme Court President Benjamin Basavilbaso to take his place.

He departed amid persistent but unconfirmed reports that he had signed a decree calling for a special emergency session of congress in his efforts to manoeuvre out of the crisis without ending his four-year regime or touching off the military coup that has been threatening for days.

The resignation report came after the country's three armed forces commanders had declared they intended to oust Frondizi today.

The army had earlier seized control of Buenos Aires in the forerunning action of a long-threatened coup.

Troops Occupy Strategic Points

More soldiers from Olavarria and Tandil, about 200 miles south and southwest of the capital, also were reported moving on Buenos Aires.

Stores and places of business opened normally in Buenos Aires this morning. The transportation system operated as usual.

There were no immediate reports of unrest from industrial areas.

Shortly before Frondizi arrived his press secretary denied statements by staff members at his residence that the president had vanished and that he had not slept there Tuesday night.

Today's military moves brought to a head the simmering dispute between Frondizi and armed service chiefs which began over disagree-

'Courts Cannot Return BCE'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. government claimed Tuesday it can keep the B.C. Electric Company even if the courts rule that the legislation under which the company was expropriated last August was illegal.

M. M. McFarlane, counsel for the attorney-general in an appeal against a court order placing the BCE under receivership, said the courts are powerless to restore the BCE to the B.C. Power Corporation, its former owner.

Even if B.C. Power wins its suit to have the takeover declared invalid the Social Credit government does not have to hand the BCE back to it unless it chooses to, he said.

Mr. McFarlane said that in the event the courts should rule that the expropriation last August was illegal, it will require a further court action against the government to have the actual property returned.

CAN REFUSE FIAT

But here the government has the power to block such a law suit by refusing to grant a fiat (permission to sue the government), he said.

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris, one of the five court of appeal judges hearing the appeal, pointed out that such permission had already been refused by the government, in connection with B.C. Power's previous efforts to get the BCE takeover before the courts.

Mr. McFarlane raised his point in support of his appeal against last week's order by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes. That order ruled that a receiver should be appointed to stand guard over the BCE's assets until B.C. Power suit challenging the validity of the takeover is settled. Dr. Harry L. Purdy, former BCE president, was appointed receiver.

"The court has no right to make an order for a receiver when the court is powerless to restore that property," said Mr. McFarlane.

Site Chosen For New B.C. Drug Clinic

OTTAWA (CP)—A site has been selected adjacent to the Abbotsford, B.C., airport for a $4,000,000 narcotic drug institution, Justice Minister Fulton announced today.

Mr. Fulton said the institution, which will accommodate 400 men and 150 women convicted of offences against the Narcotic Control Act, is the first major step by the federal penitentiaries system to design special segregated control and treatment facilities for drug addicts.

"A treatment centre will also be established on the property to provide room for the experimentation in pilot treatment projects," he said.

CHANGES MADE IN GRAIN ACT

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate banking and commerce committee today approved changes to the Canada Grain Act to establish statutory grades for rapeseed and mustard seed.

$75 Million Deal Largest of Six

OTTAWA (CP)—A new wheat sale to Red China involving just over 39,000,000 bushels worth $75,000,000 was announced today by Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton.

It is the biggest of the six grain deals completed to date with China.

Mr. Hamilton, given a long, desk-thumping welcome back to the Commons after a two-month illness, said the latest contract boosts to 108,000,000 bushels the amount of wheat sold to Red China under a long-term credit agreement that is ultimately to cover 186,700,000 bushels of wheat and 46,700,000 bushels of barley.

Canada has so far sold 26,000,000 bushels of the barley. In addition, China purchased 31,700,000 bushels of wheat and 12,700,000 bushels of barley on a cash basis last spring.

SAME PAYMENT

Payment terms for the latest purchase are identical to five previous contracts—25 per cent cash and the balance on 273 days' credit with interest.

The transaction was completed within the $100,000,000 credit guarantee made by the Canadian government to the Canadian Wheat Board to facilitate sale of grain to China.

Bulk of the wheat will be shipped from west coast ports from June to December, assuring a steady volume of exports from Vancouver for the balance of this year, Mr. Hamilton said.

About 5,600,000 bushels will be shipped from Atlantic and St. Lawrence River ports in April and May.

Army Seizes Syria

DAMASCUS (Reuters) — The Syrian armed forces announced today they have seized power, dissolved parliament and accepted the resignations of the president, premier and cabinet.

In a series of communiques broadcast over Damascus radio the armed forces general command issued a warning against demonstrations and disorders.

The command pledged positive steps toward Pan Arab unity, based on a sound foundation with liberated Arab countries, particularly "dear Egypt and sister Iraq."

It said it considered Palestine the "prime Arab cause" and pledged to mobilize all efforts for "the liberation of usurped Arab land" in Israel.

The command charged that "conspiring elements" had penetrated into power and that parliamentary deputies had worked for their own interests.

REFER TO COURTS

"The army command therefore felt itself compelled to depose those in power and conspiring elements and refer them to the courts to have their final say," one communique said.

The command also announced that Syrian borders and airports had been closed until further notice.

It said martial law was proclaimed but the army would return to its barracks as soon as "the objectives of the revolution have been achieved."

Damascus radio broadcast an announcement by the army high command saying it was taking over because the civilian government had betrayed the aims of the September military coup, six months ago today, which broke Syria away from its union with Egypt in the United Arab Republic.

It said the army would hit "with iron fists" against anyone disturbing the peace.

The high command said a provisional government will be formed from "loyal elements" and Syria will continue with a policy of positive neutrality, observing international treaties and the principles of the United Nations.

The high command said the government had protected plotters and saboteurs and deprived laborers of their gains under the September revolution.

MLA Row Over Letters From Delinquent Girls

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

The B.C. legislature broke up in wild uproar at 2.05 this morning over letters attacking an Opposition member which the government said came from delinquent girls in Willingdon School in Burnaby.

An eruption of ill-temper flared in debate on the welfare department as the government pushed through the night to speed toward prorogation of the longest session in years.

The government's sheaf of letters was read by Dan Campbell (SC—Comox).

He said the typewritten letters he held were all from girls in Willingdon and addressed to Don Robinson, Socred MLA for Lillooet.

Barrett Speech

The letters all referred to press and radio reports of a speech made earlier in the session by Dave Barrett (NDP-CCF—Dewdney) which said that girls in the school were led to prostitution and drug addiction.

The last quote read out by Mr. Campbell was:

"We wish to say we express our appreciation for your concern on our part."

Mr. Strachan charged: "It is obvious from the wording of some of the letters that either someone had written to the girls asking for their comments on a press report, or someone in the school had asked them to write."

He added:

"The government is so ashamed of its attitude toward social welfare that it promoted a deliberate scheme.

"It should also be ashamed that we're sitting here at 2.05 a.m. discussing the lives of a great many people."

(The social welfare department estimates total $30,389,531.)

DUKE'S PLANES POISED FOR QUICK FLIGHT

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Two planes stood by at a nearby airport today in case the Duke of Edinburgh wanted to leave Argentina quickly.

It was not known immediately whether the Duke's schedule would be changed as a result of the political situation. He was scheduled to stay at two ranches near here until Monday.

Jackie Guest Of Queen

LONDON (Reuters)—Jacqueline Kennedy, rested after her strenuous tour of the Indian subcontinent, was a guest of the Queen at a luncheon party at Buckingham Palace today.

The American president's wife, wearing a pink coat and mink hat, drew cheers from a crowd of 500 who gathered outside the palace to see her arrive.

Grenadier Guards snapped to attention and saluted as her car entered the palace courtyard and she got out and posed briefly for photographers.

She told reporters: "It's a great honor and very kind of the Queen to invite me." In answer to a question, she said she was well-rested.

Guests included Prime Minister Macmillan and his wife; American Ambassador and Mrs. Dave Bruce; the Duke of Devonshire, a relation of the president by marriage, and, Prince and Princess Radziwill. Mrs. Kennedy's brother-in-law and sister.

Earlier, women's organizations and a number of individual women sent telegrams to Mrs. Kennedy asking her to use her "influence" with President Kennedy to halt nuclear tests.

Algerians Welcome Russ Offer

LONDON (Reuters) — The Algerian insurgent provisional government has agreed "with pleasure" to Russia's offer to establish diplomatic relations, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Khrushchev earlier this month announced Russia's recognition of the Algerian provisional government and suggested the establishment of diplomatic relations.

This was followed by France recalling its ambassador in Moscow and "inviting" the Soviet ambassador in Paris to return to Moscow.

LAUSANNE (Reuters)—The International Olympic Committee today expressed regret at East German teams' exclusion from recent international competition and said Olympic Games would be held only in cities guaranteeing free access for all recognized competitors.

'Keep Nuclear Clubs Private'

GENEVA (Reuters)—Russia today declared it will refrain from giving its allies atomic weapons or information if the United States and Britain and France will do the same.

The spokesman said: "The Soviet Union itself is ready promptly to assume obligations not to disseminate atomic weapons or technical information for their production on condition Britain and the United States do the same."

The Rapacki plan, rejected by the West in the past on grounds it would weaken the security of NATO countries, was given a new feature by its author today.

Dutch Battle Guerrillas As Guinea Tension Mounts

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Dutch marines and police have reported an exchange of fire with a well-armed unit of some 30 Indonesians on an island off disputed West New Guinea, officials said here today.

The engagement took place at the western tip of Waigeo Island off the Dutch-ruled island territory, the official West New Guinea information office here said.

A report from the Dutch military chief in West New Guinea said the Indonesians retreated after the exchange, leaving ammunition and food behind.

SET UP BLOCKADES

Dutch reinforcements are en route to the disputed territory because of what the government calls the "continual threats and aggressive acts" of Indonesia.

Dutch warships set up blockades at entrances to rivers and small bays on the south coast of New Guinea Tuesday in a bid to trap three of four Indonesian torpedo boats.

A Dutch spokesman said the torpedo boats were intercepted off the coast by Dutch planes during the nights of March 25 and 26 but fled to shallow water to avoid pursuit by larger ships.

The Netherlands news agency reported that a Dutch KLM DC-8 airliner left Willemstad, Curacao, early today two destroyers and two submarines were en route to New Guinea.

Unconfirmed reports here said the Dutch may use the warships to evacuate Dutch from the territory.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—What a town, what a town. Even when it rains and snows the same day . . . even when it's bad . . . New York's still pretty good.

Shirley Jones (of Smithton, Pa.), wearing a very low-cut cocktail dress, with a huge aquamarine ring over the little finger of her black-gloved hand, sat in the Plaza Palm Garden—dazzling people with her beauty.

"What do you want to do after 'The Music Man' is released?" I asked. (She plays the Librarian.)

"A real good dramatic part—a meaty leading lady role like Susan Hayward plays!" she said.

Maybe a remake of "The Snakepit," she laughed. "I'd love to do St. Joan!"

There you are, Hollywood. Lovely Mrs. Jack Cassidy, mother of two (the latest being Patrick William—10 weeks old), is waiting for you to push her into the Ingrid Bergman-Olivia DeHavilland League.

HOW COULD YOU?

Shirley—who played a bad, bad girl in "Elmer Gantry" and got some letters from mothers who said, "You're my daughter's idol; how could you play such a part?"—told me that she is a much better girl in "The Music Man."

"I think things are leaving off with Hollywood making such musicals as 'Camelot' and 'State Fair' and the girls are going to be better," Shirley said.

"How's your mother going to like you playing a spinster librarian in 'The Music Man?'" I asked her.

"I suspect," she said, "My mother's going to adore anything I do."

Eddie Fisher is going to be singing at the Las Vegas Desert Inn around Christmas—he'll open a new room. When I asked the name of the room, he laughingly replied—being in very good spirits—"Maybe the Eddie Fisher Room!" He and Liz purchased a big new home at Gstaad, Switzerland (reported cost $350,000) which they hope to get into after "Cleopatra." Eddie also revealed while here that one of the genuine admirers of the acting ability of Richard Burton is . . . Eddie Fisher.

EARL'S PEARLS: Today's child knows the value of a nickel. That's why he asks for a dime.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "They're piping music into Internal Revenue offices," reports Bill Gold. "What's the album—'Music to Pluck Taxpayers By'?"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Taffy Tuttle's catty description of a girl: "She should make veil's popular again."

ment on how to deal with the substantial victories in March 18 elections of Peron supporters. Peron was ousted in 1955.

The armed forces wanted a national coalition in which they could be represented.

Earlier today Frondizi rejected a formal demand to resign made to him by the heads of the armed services.

The demand was the climax of hours of discussions at Government House, seat of the presidency and of several government departments, including the defence ministry.

A tense atmosphere prevailed as the efforts to get the president to quit went on into the early hours of the morning.

Deputies and senators gathered in the corridors. Frondizi stayed in his office while the secretaries of the armed forces with their commanders-in-chief and top unit commanders, met in the offices of the ministry of defence.

The announcement that the president had rejected the call to resign was made at a press conference by Martinez.

He said the secretaries for war and air and the commander of naval operations asked him to tell the president that the view of their forces were the same as those expressed to him Tuesday by ex-president Pedro Aramburu — that he should resign.

Aramburu was appointed by Frondizi to try to mediate in the crisis.

Martinez added he had made proposals "inspired by the need of national unity, defence of the constitutional order and democratic ideals" and that they were approved by Frondizi.

Usually reliable government sources said the proposals consisted firstly of the creation of a new cabinet with all ministers hand-picked by the armed forces; secondly, armed forces supervision of all legislation and thirdly shortening of the presidential term which was due to expire May 1, 1964.

FRENCH FIRE POWER 'STUNS' SECRET ARMY

ALGIERS (AP)—The French massed 60,000 troops in Algiers today to bring the city's 300,000 defiant European settlers under control.

Reinforcements rolled in from the countryside to guard against any new outbreak by the Secret Army of Europeans fighting to sabotage the cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian nationalist rebels. Armored cars and half-tracks patrolled streets of the Algerian capital.

The settlers' cause appeared hard hit by the heavy army fire into a crowd of European demonstrators Monday, in which 45 Europeans were killed and 120 wounded in the heart of the city.

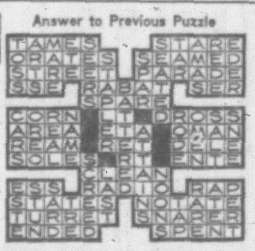

"We are so stunned we cannot think of any reaction," said one Secret Army agent.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Advt.
